more diverse and globally representative legacies While such claims are of course welcome they do not embrace the bulging unruly and obnoxious legacies that now haunt us legacies that have become so conspicuously manifest that they are claimed as diagnostic of a new epoch the Anthropocene This book targets this exclusion It claims that the current clash between prevailing conceptions of heritage as something confined wished for and thus worth saving and the unruly legacies ignoring such work of purification urges a reconsideration of strategies and rationales for how to deal with heritage Through multidisciplinary approaches ranging from archaeology and heritage studies to philosophy and environmental politics the contributions bring heritage into dialogue with a wide range of topics including industrialisation material profusion modernist architectural material coastal reclamations barbed wire and naval mines The result is a volume that profoundly challenges traditional understandings of heritage as an exclusive reserve of things selected and managed by us

Sir Richard Williams the Father of the RAAF had decided to employ an alpha numeric numbering system to identify and account for each aircraft in service This system started with A1 A2 A3 etc as each type of aircraft came into service Each individual aircraft within each series was identified as A1 1 A1 2 and so on and the aircraft serial became known colloquially as the A number With some exceptions over the century since the A number system started aircraft entered RAAF service in broadly the sequence of the A numbers and so this book is intended to assist in charting the 100 year history of the RAAF by listing aircraft operated in A number sequence rather than by listing them by role such as Fighter Bomber Maritime Trainer Transport etc or alphabetically by name or by manufacturer The inclusion of a comprehensive Index and the Quick Reference Guide to aircraft by role is intended to facilitate the location of the entry for any specific type of aircraft for those who may not already know its A number Aircraft of The Royal Australian Air Force is a must have for all those who have served in the RAAF those with a passion for military aviation and aircraft in general and the broader members of the public wishing to gain an appreciation of the Royal Australian Air Force in its centenary year
