Toppling the Melting Pot José-Antonio Orosco,2016-10-17 The catalyst for much of classical pragmatist political thought was the great waves of migration to the United States in the early twentieth century Jos Antonio Orosco examines the work of several pragmatist social thinkers including John Dewey W E B Du Bois Josiah Royce and Jane Addams regarding the challenges large scale immigration brings to American democracy Orosco argues that the ideas of the classical pragmatists can help us understand the ways in which immigrants might strengthen the cultural foundations of the United States in order to achieve a more deliberative and participatory democracy Like earlier pragmatists Orosco begins with a critique of the melting pot in favor of finding new ways to imagine the civic role of our immigrant population He concludes that by applying the insights of American pragmatism we can find guidance through controversial contemporary issues such as undocumented immigration multicultural education and racialized conceptions of citizenship

Irreducible Mind Edward F. Kelly,Emily Williams Kelly,Adam Crabtree,2010 Current mainstream opinion in psychology neuroscience and philosophy of mind holds that all aspects of human mind and consciousness are generated by physical processes occurring in brains Views of this sort have dominated recent scholarly publication The present volume however demonstrates empirically that this reductive materialism is not only incomplete but false The authors systematically marshal evidence for a variety of psychological phenomena that are extremely difficult and in some cases clearly impossible to account for in conventional physicalist terms Topics addressed include phenomena of extreme psychophysical influence memory psychological automatisms and secondary personality near death experiences and allied phenomena genius level creativity and mystical states of consciousness both spontaneous and drug induced The authors further show that these rogue phenomena are more readily accommodated by an alternative transmission or filter theory of mind brain relations advanced over a century ago by a largely forgotten genius F W H Myers and developed further by his friend and colleague William James This theory moreover ratifies the commonsense conception of human beings as causally effective conscious agents and is fully compatible with leading edge physics and neuroscience The book should command the attention of all open minded persons concerned with the still unsolved mysteries of the mind

Framing Dropouts Michelle Fine, 1991-03-05 I think this is the most important work I have read in over a decade on the sociology and politics of school dropouts Fine combines a narrative structure with a rigorous theoretical discourse that allows the reader to both hear the voices of those involved in the dropout situation as well as to have the opportunity to reflect critically on the ideological and material forces that structure the dropout issue as a social problem I am convinced that it will be a major influence in the field and will establish a new theoretical standard for inquiry into the area of school dropouts Henry A Giroux Professor and Renown Scholar in Residence Department of Educational Leadership Miami University As a critical ethnography this manuscript is thoughtful compassionate and compelling Fine is able to document the braiding of race class gender in sophisticated ways and this is one of the text's greatest strengths The link between those who drop out and the restriction of critique is powerfully achieved Fine has successfully re-presented the complexities of urban education She should be applauded for her integration of black and feminist theorists I believe this text is pioneering It opens the literature on adolescents placed at risk to include contexts previously ignored This should be required reading for all school personnel future teachers and those associated with educational contexts Deborah P Britzman Department of Education State University of New York Binghamton What Fine does is show us in depth the reality of the situation we often wish would just go away We are forced to confront what pain is engendered by our public institutions and consider how we might take up the challenge to do something about it Roger I Simon Ontario Institute for Studies in Education
