interest to scholars of medievalism popular culture and genre Masque of Enchantment Charlene Cross,2012-05-22 Perfect for fans of Julia Quinn Mary Balogh and Lisa Kleypas this historical romance follows an actress in disguise as a governess and the battle of wills between her and her strapping employer Accused of murder actress Alissa Ashford fled London for Scotland in the drab garb of a prim governess Her employer Jared Braxton was supremely masculine and imperiously attractive with a manner that sorely tested proud Alissa s assumed meekness Yet despite their clashes of will they were one in their devotion to Jared s little girl whose soul was wounded by her mother s shocking death For the mahogany maned beauty was not the only one with a secret within Hawkstone s magnificent walls Jared too kept his brooding counsel Driven by the passion that burned between them he seized on an unforeseen discovery and forced Alissa to become his wife Still they denied the tenderness that charged their desire until they were enmeshed in a deadly intrigue that threatened all they treasured How to Judge a Book by its Cover Kate Cuthbert,2025-11-17 Combining both an industry and research focus How to Judge a Book by its Cover not only judges books by their covers but provides a methodology for others to do the same Despite book titles and book covers having been identified defined and discussed as paratexts beginning first with Gerard Genette and by many paratextual and publishing scholars since there is currently no methodology or defined vocabulary for the analysis and discussion of their creation the intent and effect of their structure and their constituent elements As these paratexts become further and further removed from their texts then like texts they can and should be studied especially as literature is inextricably embedded in industrial and social currents How to Judge a Book by its Cover looks more deeply at book covers and book titles two paratexts that are of broad academic interest but crucial to the placement marketing and commerce of the publishing industry Bringing together paratextual studies publishing studies and media studies visual design analysis and the world of advertising this work marries academic rigour with industry experience to first define the role that book covers and book titles play and then articulate a methodology for their analysis By identifying intent behind book covers and book titles defining the elements that may be achieved in this intent and providing opportunities to measure their success both scholars and industry professionals will have a clear and robust vocabulary in discussions of these key marketing paratexts This book can be used for students and researchers that are interested in media studies paratextual studies publishing internet studies post colonial studies and popular fiction studies
