The Care Of Life Transdisciplinary Perspectives In Bioethics And Biopolitics:

The Care of Life Miguel de Beistegui, Giuseppe Bianco, Marjorie Gracieuse, 2015 This interdisciplinary collection of essays demonstrates how the ethical and political problems we are confronted with today have come to focus largely on life. The contributors to this volume define and assess the specific meaning of life itself. It is only by doing so that we can understand why life has become an all encompassing problem why all questions especially ethical and political have become vital questions. We have reached a moment in history where every distinction and opposition is no longer in relation to life but within it and where life is at once a theoretical and practical problem. This book throws light on this nexus of problems at the heart of contemporary debates in bioethics and biopolitics. It helps us understand why and how life is understood valued cared for and framed today. Taking a genuinely transdisciplinary approach these essays demonstrate how life is a multifaceted problem and how diverse the origins foundations and also consequences of bioethics and biopolitics therefore are.

Bioethics and Biopolitics Péter Kakuk, 2017-10-03 This volume links three different theoretical approaches that have a common focus on the relationship between biopolitics and bioethics. This collection of papers can be categorized into different domains that are representative of the contemporary usage of biopolitics as a concept. On the one hand several chapters develop a clear and up to date understanding of the primary sources of the concept and related theories of Agamben, Negri or Foucault and approach the question of relevance within the field of bioethics. Another group of papers apply the philosophical concepts and theories of biopolitics biopower Homo Sacer biocitizenship on very specific currently debated bioethical issues. Some scholars rely on the more mundane understanding of bio politics and investigate how its relationship with bioethics could be philosophically conceptualized. Additionally this work also contains papers that follow a more legally oriented analysis on the effects of contemporary biopolitics on human rights and European law. The authors are philosophers legal scholars or bioethicists. The major strength of this volume is to provide the reader with major insights and orientation in these different contemporary usages of the concept and theories of biopolitics within the context of its various ethically relevant applications Forms of Life Andreas Gailus, 2020-09-15 In Forms of Life Andreas Gailus argues that the neglect of aesthetics in most contemporary theories of biopolitics has resulted in an overly restricted conception of life. He insists we need a more flexible notion of life, one attuned to the interplay and conflict between its many dimensions and forms. Forms of Life develops such a notion through the meticulous study of works by Kant, Goethe, Kleist, Nietzsche, Wittgenstein, Benn, Musil, and others. Gailus shows that the modern conception of life as a generative organizing force internal to living beings emerged in the last decades of the eighteenth century in biological thought. At the core of this vitalist strand of thought, Gailus maintains, lies a persistent emphasis on the dynamics of formation and deformation and thus on an intrinsically aesthetic dimension of life. Forms of Life brings this older discourse into critical conversation with contemporary discussions of biopolitics and vitalism while also developing a rich conception of life that highlights rather than suppresses its protean character. Gailus demonstrates that life unfolds in the open-ended interweaving of the myriad forms and modalities of biological, ethical, political, psychical, aesthetic, and biographical systems.

Vitalism and Its Legacy in Twentieth Century Life Sciences and Philosophy Christopher Donohue, Charles T. Wolfe, 2023-01-02 This Open Access book combines philosophical and historical analysis of various forms of alternatives to mechanism and mechanistic explanation, focusing on the 19th century to the present. It addresses vitalism, organicism, and responses to materialism and its relevance to current biological science. In doing so, it promotes dialogue and discussion about the historical and philosophical importance of vitalism and other non-mechanistic conceptions of life. It points towards the integration of genomic science into the broader history of biology. It details a broad engagement with a variety of nineteenth, twentieth, and twenty-first century vitalisms and conceptions of life. In addition, it discusses important threads in the history of concepts in the United States and Europe, including charting new reception histories in eastern and south-eastern Europe. While vitalism, organicism, and similar epistemologies are often the concern of specialists in the history and philosophy of biology and of historians of ideas, the range of the contributions as well as the geographical and temporal scope of the volume allows for it to appeal to the historian of science and the historian of biology generally.

Bioethics and the Posthumanities Danielle Sands, 2022-03-01 This interdisciplinary volume explores how posthumanist approaches can illuminate current issues in bioethics and considers the relevance of these issues for the humanities, including questions of autonomy and authorship and notions of ethical and juridical responsibility in the context of a changing understanding of subjectivity. With contributions from a variety of areas, including literature, philosophy, media, and policy-making, the book outlines the historical and philosophical development of posthumanism and current key questions in bioethics. It generates a dialogue between bioethical approaches and the posthumanities, identifying ways in which posthumanist scholarship might be used to inform bioethical policy. The book also looks more speculatively at the future and the potential implications of technological developments which are only beginning to emerge. It uses posthumanism to look critically at the humanism underpinning de extinction science considers the ways in which technology is re framing our social and political imaginaries and asks about the identification of future posthumans

Process Metaphysics and Mutative Life Wahida Khandker, 2020-05-11 This book provides a survey of key process philosophical approaches that in conversation with selected concepts across the biological and physical sciences help us to think about living processes or lived time at different scales of functioning The first part is written from an opening perspective on the question of the differing scales of analysis provided by Alfred North Whitehead In particular his interest in questions arising from the quantum mechanical reconciliation with classical mechanics informs the first two chapters that address problematic categorizations of life as variously despotic invasive or as primitive in the radically more than human case of micro organisms whose potential recategorization relies on our willingness to acknowledge changes in value depending on the scale at which we view them The second part of the book concerns methodologies in the light of works by Henri Bergson whose intertwining concerns with epistemology and ontology in his theories of mind and life serve as a model for a process philosophy of biology The chapters focus on techniques used across philosophy and the sciences to visualize processes that are otherwise unavailable to us due to the limitations of our perceptual faculties no matter how sophisticated the tools for analysis from microscopes to telescopes have become This book concludes with a consideration of the relations between parts and wholes in process panpsychist and ecological terms It revisits the question of ecological balance and the place of human activities in relation to it with reference to works of Charles Hartshorne and William James

Recursivity and Contingency Yuk Hui, 2019-01-28 This book employs recursivity and contingency as two principle concepts to investigate into the relation between nature and technology machine and organism system and freedom It reconstructs a trajectory of thought from an Organic condition of thinking elaborated by Kant passing by the philosophy of nature Schelling and Hegel to the 20th century Organicism Bertalanffy Needham Whitehead Wiener among others and Organology Bergson Canguilhem Simondon Stiegler and questions the new condition of philosophizing in the time of algorithmic contingency ecological and algorithmic catastrophes which Heidegger calls the end of philosophy The book centres on the following speculative question if in the philosophical tradition the concept of contingency is always related to the laws of nature then in what way can we understand contingency in related to technical systems The book situates the concept of recursivity as a break from the Cartesian mechanism and the drive of system construction it elaborates on the necessity of contingency in such epistemological rupture where nature ends and system emerges In this development we see how German idealism is precursor to cybernetics and the Anthropocene and Noosphere Teilhard de Chardin point toward the realization of a gigantic cybernetic system which lead us back to the question of freedom It questions the concept of absolute contingency Meillassoux and proposes a cosmotechnical pluralism Engaging with modern and contemporary European philosophy as well as Chinese thought through the mediation of Needham this book refers to cybernetics mathematics artificial intelligence and inhumanism The Urban Brain Nikolas Rose,Des Fitzgerald,2022-03-22 Bridging the social and life sciences to unlock the mystery of how cities shape mental health and illness Most of the world s people now live in cities and millions have moved from the countryside to the rapidly growing megacities of the global south How does the urban experience shape the mental lives of those living in and moving to cities today Sociologists study cities as centers of personal progress and social innovation but also exclusion racism and inequality Psychiatrists try to explain the high rates of mental disorders among urban dwellers especially migrants But the split between the social and life sciences has hindered understanding of how urban experience is written into the bodies and brains of urbanites In The Urban Brain Nikolas Rose and Des Fitzgerald seek to revive the collaboration between sociology and psychiatry about these critical questions Reexamining the relationship between the city and the brain Rose and Fitzgerald explore the ways cities shape the mental health and illness of those who inhabit them Drawing on the social and life sciences The Urban Brain takes an ecosocial approach to the vital city in which humans live and thrive but too often get sick and suffer The result demonstrates what we can gain by a vitalist approach to the mental lives of those migrating to and living in cities focusing on the ways that humans make remake and inhabit their urban lifeworlds Anatomy of the Medical Image ,2021-09-27 This volume addresses the interdependencies between visual technologies and epistemology with regard to our perception of the medical body It explores the relationships between the imagination the body and concrete forms of visual representations Ranging from the Renaissance paradigm of anatomy to Foucault s birth of the clinic and the institutionalised construction of a medical gaze from visual archives of madness psychiatric art collections the politicisation and economisation of the body to the post human in mass media representations Contributions to this volume investigate medical bodies as historical technological and political constructs constituted where knowledge formation and visual cultures intersect Contributors are Axel Fliethmann Michael Hau Birgit Lang Carolyn Lau Heikki Lempa stef lenk Joanna Madloch Barry Murnane Jill Redner Claudia Stein Elizabeth Stephens Corinna Wagner and Christiane Weller On the Politics of the Living Federico Testa,2025-04-17 Bringing the philosophies of Michel Foucault and Georges Canguilhem into dialogue Federico Testa examines the notions of life and norms underlying our modern experience of politics Today s global health crisis acts as a stark reminder that life is at the core of our political debates and dilemmas We can no longer

think of forms of political organization citizenship and participation without considering the materiality and precarity of our own organic life Ours is a politics of the living Within this context this book examines Foucault s work on the politicization of life and biopolitics through the lens of Canguilhem s notion of norms Testa extracts from Canguilhem s philosophy the conceptual tools to re interpret Foucault s ideas on power and reconceptualises normativity as a process of the creation of norms that provide tools for political and social analysis and for thinking resistance In so doing he uncovers new and important possibilities for biopolitical resistance Demonstrating not only Canguilhem s underexplored social and political concerns but also the intellectual osmosis between the two thinkers On the Politics of the Living is an urgent examination of the ever increasing significance of the concepts of life care and health in today s political discourse The Ahuman Manifesto Patricia MacCormack,2020-01-23 We are in the midst of a growing ecological crisis Developing technologies and cultural interventions are throwing the status of human into question It is against this context that Patricia McCormack delivers her expert justification for the ahuman An alternative to posthuman thought the term paves the way for thinking that doesn t dissolve into nihilism and despair but actively embraces issues like human extinction vegan abolition atheist occultism death studies a refusal of identity politics deep ecology and the apocalypse as an optimistic beginning In order to suggest vitalistic perhaps even optimistic ways to negotiate some of the difficulties in thinking and acting in the world this book explores five key contemporary themes Identity Spirituality Art Death The apocalypse Collapsing activism artistic practice and affirmative ethics while introducing some radical contemporary ideas and addressing specifically modern phenomena like death cults intersectional identity politics and capitalist enslavement of human and nonhuman organisms to the point of zombiedom The Ahuman Manifesto navigates the ways in which we must compose the human differently specifically beyond nihilism and post and trans humanism and outside human privilege This is so that we can actively think and live viscerally with connectivity actual not virtual and with passion and grace toward a new world Canguilhem and Continental Philosophy of Biology Giuseppe Bianco,Charles T.
