On the Other Side(s) of 150 Linda M. Morra, Sarah Henzi, 2021-05-20 On the Other Side(s) of 150 explores the different literary historical and cultural legacies of Canada's sesquicentennial celebrations It asks vital questions about the ways that histories and stories have been suppressed and invites consideration about what happens once a commemorative moment has passed Like a Cubist painting this modality offers a critical strategy by which also to approach the volume as dismantling reassembling and re-enacting existing commemorative tropes as offering multiple conditional and contingent viewpoints that unfold over time and as generating a broader although far from being comprehensive range of counter memorial performances The chapters in this volume are thus provisional interconnected and adaptive they offer critical assemblages by which to approach commemorative narratives or showcase lacunae therein by which to return to and intervene in ongoing readings of the past from the present moment and by which not necessarily to resolve but rather to understand the troubled and troubling narratives of the present moment Contributors propose that these preoccupations are not a means of turning away from present concerns but rather a means of grappling with how the past informs or is shaped to inform them and how such concerns are defined by immediate social contexts and networks

Blueprints for No-man's Land Janet Stewart, Simon Ward, 2005 This volume brings together a collection of essays focusing on selected aspects of inter and multidisciplinary in contemporary Austrian culture These include the connections between literature and the media literature and the visual arts literature and travel and the visual arts and public space The individual contributions deal with central figures in the Austrian arts including Thomas Bernhard Franzobel Elfriede Jelinek Peter Handke Peter Turrini and Doron Rabinovici as well as collective ventures such as Walter Grond's Odysseus project and the museum in progress. They analyse the impact of connections between disciplines on the cultural landscape in contemporary Austria as well as examining the limits of such interaction between disciplines.

The Big Book of Reincarnation Roy Stemman, 2012-05-01

IS DEATH THE FINAL CHAPTER In The Big Book of Reincarnation Roy Stemman attempts to answer one of the big questions of existence: Is death the end? Or is it merely the end of a chapter in the book of existence? A self-described skeptical believer, Stemman uses his skills as a professional journalist to perform an in-depth exploration of reincarnation. Using case studies, anecdotes, and physical evidence from the best documented cases from around the world, Stemman shines a bright light on this subject, inviting readers to decide for themselves on the basis of facts rather than on the basis of hearsay, speculation, and superstition. Stemman finds fascinating examples of evidence of reincarnation in the nightmares of a Louisiana bayou boy, the past-life recall of a renowned neurosurgeon, the research of a highly respected university professor, and the unique system of governance in the mountains of Tibet, to name just a few. He examines the lives of those affected by reincarnation, such as children who can actually remember their previous lives. Instead of shying away from the skeptics, Stemman evaluates their leading theories and compares them to the findings that he has accumulated throughout his global research. The Big Book of Reincarnation is thorough, well-researched, engaging, and the most comprehensive book ever published on this fascinating subject.

Canada Through American Eyes Jennifer Andrews, 2023-06-22 This book explores how Canada is imagined primarily by US writers, and what readers and scholars on both sides of the Canada-US border can learn from these recent depictions by examining a selection of US-authored fiction from 9/11 to the present. The novels and occasional paintings, films, and musicals that are the subject of the book provide a deliberately varied set of case studies to probe how US texts, along with works of art produced on both sides of the Canada-US border, uncover moments in Canadian historical and literary studies that have been buried or occluded to protect Canada's self-representation as an exceptional nation.

Being/s in Transit, 2021-11-22 This fifth volume of ASNEL Papers covers a wide range of theoretical and thematic approaches to the topics of travelling, migration, and dislocation. All migrants are travellers, but not all travellers are migrants. Migration and the figure of the migrant have become key concepts in recent post-colonial studies. However, migration is not such a new or exceptional phenomenon. From the eighteenth century onward, there have been migrations from Europe to what are now called post-colonial countries, and this prepared the ground for movement back to the old, but also to the new centres of Europe and elsewhere. Travel and travel experience, on the other hand, have been part of the cultural codes not only of the West, but not only of imperialism. The essays in this volume look at both kinds of movement at their intersections and at their dislocating effects. They cover a wide range of topics, from early seventeenth-century travel reports through nineteenth-century women's travel writing to such contemporary writers as Michael Ondaatje and Janette Turner Hospital.

Settling the World M. John Harrison, 2020-08-20 Throughout his career M John Harrison's writing has defied categorisation building worlds both unreal and all too real overlapping and interlocking with each other His stories are replete with fissures and portals into parallel dimensions unidentified countries and lost lands But more important than the places they point to are the obsessions that drive the people who so believe in them characters who spend their lives hunting for and haunted by clues and maps that speak to the possibility of somewhere else This selection of stories drawn from over 50 years of writing bears witness to that desire for difference whether following backstreet occultists amateur philosophers down and outs or refugees we see our relationship with the other in microscopic detail and share in Harrison's rejection of the idea that the world or our understanding of it could ever be settled
