Chiao, 2024-08-02 This book provides novel insights into the study of empirical computational approaches in the field of cultural neuroscience It discusses and analyses topics such as cultural intelligence cultural machine learning cultural brain dynamics and cultural security This comprehensive text engages with computational principles to guide the research on the influence of cultural environments on human genetics It explores the theoretical and methodological approaches involved in computational neuroscience The author elucidates how cultural processes intersect with the structural organization of the nervous system contributing to the study of computational principles and neural information processing mechanisms at the cultural level Research in this subject area can help provide better understanding of the role of computation in cultural neuroscience stimulating further research into practice and policy Computational Cultural Neuroscience An Introduction is the ideal resource for academics researchers and students of psychology neuroscience computer science or philosophy who are interested in cultural neuroscience Conversations in Philosophy Ed Brandon, Roxanne Burton, F. Ochieng'-Odhiambo, 2015-10-05 The collection of essays in this anthology is divided into three categories namely social epistemology epistemology and freedom respectively The first category addresses questions related to the social dimensions of knowledge Various issues are interrogated including the lack of attention to testimony in much standard philosophizing the need for advocacy and the role of history making in social reconstruction The second category deals more directly with some of the concepts that generally crop up in the theory of knowledge provoking questions such as How much do we really know about each other What is the content of the knowledge we think we have and how far does it depend upon our social being What is the relationship between knowledge and truth Essays in the third category deal with the concept of freedom both at a personal and a social level and discuss dilemmas such as To what extent are some of the arguments put forward in favour of genetic determinism flawed or sensible Does the idea of genetic influence pose a threat to freedom What is the area within which the subject is or should be left to do or be without interference from other persons In this era of globalization is cosmopolitanism or communitarianism by itself sufficient for promoting freedom Conversations in Philosophy Knowledge and Freedom is the second book in a series based on a selection of papers presented at the annual Cave Hill Philosophy Symposium The first book Conversations in Philosophy Crossing the Boundaries published in 2008 also by Cambridge Scholars Publishing consisted of essays that revolved around the question of the nature and meaning of philosophy This second volume of Conversations in Philosophy offers a careful and balanced examination of many issues that recur in discussions on knowledge and freedom The essays are thoughtful provocative and challenging Psychoanalytic Conversations Peter L. Rudnytsky, 2013-06-17 In this stunning addition to what has of late become a distinct genre of psychoanalytic literature Peter Rudnytsky presents 10 substantive and provocative interviews with leading analysts with theorists from allied fields and with influential Freud critics In conversations that Rudnytsky succeeds in making psychoanalytic both in form and in content he guides his interlocutors to unforeseen reflections on the events and forces that shaped their lives and on the personal and intellectual grounds of their beliefs and practices Rudnytsky a ranking academic scholar of psychoanalysis and the humanities approaches his subjects with not only a highly attuned third ear but also a remarkable grasp of theoretical historical and clinical issues When his interviewees turn from autobiographical narratives to matters of theory and clinical practice Rudnytsky is clear about his own intellectual allegiance to the Independent tradition of object relations theory and his admiration for John Bowlby and attachment theory His willingness to set forth his own point of view and occasionally to press a line of questioning infuses his exchanges with an energy even passion heretofore unknown in the analytic interview literature Rudnytsky consistently emerges as a partner even an analytic partner in dialogues that meld discovery with self discovery To be sure Psychoanalytic Conversations will find many clinical and scholarly readers among those who relish a good engrossing read But it will have special appeal to students of analysis who share Rudnytsky's belief that if psychoanalysis is to remain vital in the new century it can only be by expanding its horizons and learning from those who have taken it to task

MIND and LOVE: The Human Experience Lloyd Fell, 2011-01-04 The new scientific paradigm of embodied mind or situated cognition is percolating into popular mind science but its fundamentals autopoiesis and structural coupling have never been thoroughly explained Combines the paradigm shift in biology initiated by Maturana and Varela with the recent rush of ideas in social neuroscience to create what hopes to be a refreshingly new explanation of the way our mind works in our everyday experience and reveals the most common blind spots in what we thought we knew about our mind These blind spots are spoiling our individual lives and harming our prospects for peaceful coexistence and care of our environment e g the mistaken ideas that meaning is transferable that decisions come from conscious awareness or that knowledge is a commodity The biological significance of love and the value of embracing uncertainty and respecting the unknown point to a very hopeful vision for our future This is a scientific explanation of mind leavened with process philosophy also invoking spirituality without any religious connotation

The Archaeology of Ethnicity Siân Jones, 2002-11-01 The question of ethnicity is highly controversial in contemporary archaeology Indigenous and nationalist claims to territory often rely on reconstructions of the past based on the traditional identification of cultures from archaeological remains Siân Jones responds to the need for a reassessment of the ways in which social groups are identified in the archaeological record with a comprehensive and critical synthesis of recent theories of ethnicity in the human sciences In doing so she argues for a fundamentally different view of ethnicity as a complex dynamic form of identification requiring radical changes in archaeological analysis and interpretation

Building Inclusive Ethical Cultures in STEM Elisabeth Hildt, Kelly Laas, Eric M. Brey, Christine Z. Miller, 2024-02-22 This book shares innovative approaches to effectively engage students and faculty working in research labs lab based classrooms and courses to build inclusive ethical cultures The frameworks and approaches presented move beyond traditional research ethics training to strengthen the ethical culture in research labs The chapters in the book showcase best practices and approaches to embedding educational interventions in courses research labs and departments The book is based on the two day workshop Building Inclusive Ethical Cultures in STEM April 23 24 2021 Moving beyond the two day conference that inspired this collected volume the various chapters address questions like What are approaches and tools to integrate ethics education in STEM effectively How can STEM ethics education be improved What can researchers do to build more inclusive research environments How can meaningful discussions about ethics be effectively integrated into STEM courses research labs and workplace environments While each chapter takes a different perspective and is located in its respective context the contributions are united by the goal of effectively including ethical reflection in STEM education Instructors from both four year and two year colleges who teach STEM and lab based STEM courses young principal investigators junior faculty who are in the process of building their research groups departmental chairs interested in programmatic approaches for improving mentoring research ethics education and the research culture of their department will find this work to be a very valuable resource in their daily practice Medical Talk and Medical Work Paul Atkinson, Professor Paul Anthony Atkinson, 1995-06-15 The development of a sociology of medical knowledge is both assessed and contributed to in Medical Talk and Medical Work Underlying the analysis is research on the work of haematologists which offers a rich resource for understanding the complexities and contradictions between physical bodies and social embodiment medical talk and technical apparatus Using but moving beyond this specific material Paul Atkinson demonstrates the strengths and weaknesses of the existing understanding of medical knowledge Among the issues explored are the place of interaction among doctors rather than between doctors and patients in defining the construction of medical knowledge the ways in which clinical opinion is socially produced and the nature of the local settings through which this process occurs and the relations among medical knowledge medical language and the increasingly technological contexts of contemporary medical practice Cow Talk Michelle K. Berry, 2023-03-16 The image of western ranchers making a stand for their rights against developers the government illegal immigrants may be commonplace today but the political power of the cowboy was a long time in the making In a book steeped in the culture traditions and history of western range ranching Michelle K Berry takes readers into the Cold War world of cattle ranchers in the American West to show how that power with its implications for the lands and resources of the mountain states was built shaped and shored up between 1945 and 1965 After long days working the ranch battling human and nonhuman threats and wrestling with nature ranchers got down to business of another sort which Berry calls cow talk Discussing the best new machinery sharing stories of drought blizzards and bugs talking money and management and strategy these ranchers were building a community specific to their time place and work and creating a language that embodied their culture Cow Talk explores how this language and its iconography evolved and how it came to provide both a context and a vehicle for political power Using ranchers personal papers publications and cattle growers association records the book provides an inside view of how range cattle ranchers in Arizona New Mexico Colorado Wyoming and Montana created a culture and a shared identity that would frame and inform their relationship with their environment and with society at large in an increasingly challenging modernizing world A multifaceted analysis of postwar ranch life labor and culture this innovative work offers unprecedented insight into the cohesive political and cultural power of western ranchers in our day Proceedings of the Annual Conference, 1902

Psychoanalytic Credos Jill Salberg, 2022-01-31 Developing psychoanalytic credos a set of beliefs that inform how you listen and approach the analytic enterprise with patients is in many ways the scaffolding of psychoanalytic training Drawing upon Mannie Ghent's original Credo essay 27 psychoanalysts were asked to write their credos and or their psychoanalytic journey This book represents a multi theoretical and multi generational grouping trained at different institutes during different eras grouped by decades 1960 2000 and across cultures They are drawn from analysts identified with Relational Object Relations Contemporary Freudians and Kleinian Bionian perspectives as well as those who don't easily fit categorization This book serves to provide companionship to analysts in training as part of reading lists in institutes as well as analysts post training and yet still evolving in their psychoanalytic journey

In Search of Human Nature Carl N. Degler, 1992-11-05 Winner of the Pulitzer Prize in History in 1972 and a past president of both the Organization of American Historians and the American Historical Association Carl Degler is one of America's most eminent living historians He is also one of the most versatile In a forty year career he has written brilliantly on race Neither Black Nor White which won the Pulitzer Prize women's studies At Odds which Betty Friedan called a stunning book Southern history The Other South the New Deal and many other subjects Now in The Search for Human Nature Degler turns to perhaps his largest subject yet a sweeping history of the impact of Darwinism and biological research on our understanding of human nature providing a fascinating overview of the social sciences in the last one hundred years The idea of a biological root to human nature was almost universally accepted at the turn of the century Degler points out then all but vanished from social thought only to reappear in the last four decades Degler traces the early history of this idea from Darwin's argument that our moral and emotional life evolved from animals just as our human shape did to William James's emphasis on instinct in human behavior then seen as a fundamental insight of psychology We also see the many applications of biology from racism sexism and Social Darwinism to the rise of intelligence testing the eugenics movement and the practice of involuntary sterilization of criminals a public policy pioneered in America which had sterilization laws 25 years before Nazi Germany one such law was upheld by Oliver Wendell Holmes's Supreme Court Degler then examines the work of those who denied any role for biology who thought culture shaped human nature a group ranging from Franz Boas Ruth Benedict and Margaret Mead to John B Watson and B F Skinner Equally important he examines the forces behind this fundamental shift in a scientific paradigm arguing that ideological reasons especially the struggle against racism and sexism in America led to this change in scientific thinking Finally Degler considers the revival of Darwinism without the Social Darwinism racism and sexism led first by ethologists such as Karl von Frisch Nikolaas Tinbergen Konrad Lorenz and Jane Goodall who revealed clear parallels between animal and human behavior and followed in varying degrees by such figures as Melvin Konner Alice Rossi Jerome Kagen and Edward O Wilson as well as others in anthropology political science sociology and economics What kind of animal is Homo sapiens and how did we come to be this way In this wide ranging history Carl Degler traces our attempts over the last century to answer these questions In doing so he has produced a volume that will fascinate anyone curious about the nature of human beings The Routledge International Handbook of Critical Autism Studies Damian Milton,Sara Ryan,2022-12-22 This handbook provides an authoritative and up to date overview of Critical Autism Studies and explores the different kinds of knowledges and their articulations similarities and differences across cultural contexts and key tensions within this subdiscipline Critical Autism Studies is a developing area occupying an exciting space of development within learning and teaching in higher education It has a strong trajectory within the autistic academic and advocate community in resistance and response to the persistence of autism retaining an identity as a genetic disorder of the brain Divided into four parts Conceptualising autism Autistic identity Community and culture Practice and comprising 24 newly commissioned chapters written by academics and activists it explores areas of education Critical Race Theory domestic violence and abuse sexuality biopolitics health and social care practices It will be of interest to all scholars and students of disability studies sociology anthropology cultural studies education health social care and political science Biopolitical Experience C. Blencowe,2011-12-15 An original comprehensive interpretation of Michel Foucault s analysis of biopolitics situating biopolitics in the context of embodied histories of subjectivity affective investments and structures of experience Going beyond lamentation at the horrors of biopolitical domination the book develops a positive critique of biopolitical experience Infant and Young Child Feeding Fiona Dykes,Victoria Hall-Moran,2009-08-14 This exciting book edited by Fiona Dykes and Victoria Hall Moran and with a foreword from Gretel Peltó explores in an integrated context the varied factors associated with infant and child nutrition including global feeding strategies cultural factors issues influencing breastfeeding and economic and life cycle influences
