city has a golf course a stretch of green hidden in plain sight behind gates you may have never crossed More than a playing ground it is where a city's forgotten breaths are quietly preserved Journalist Ira Witmore enters the Capital Golf Club expecting politics rivalries between an old public golf course and a rising private one But each day of her brief stay in the club reveals a mysterious world she never imagined Here past and present overlap caddies become storytellers committees dissolve into quarrels and rain recalls its own history CGC is more than its mysteries It stands on contested ground threatened by tycoons and tribunals by elections that echo more than cheers To walk its fairways is to walk through the city's own lungs fragile overlooked irreplaceable Capital Golf Club is not only about one course It is about every capital's course the one you've seen from afar perhaps driven past never entered The one holding the memory of a city you thought you knew This is a novel about heritage and hauntings about what we stand to lose when silence is sold A love letter and a warning Because some places don't disappear when forgotten They vanish when no one listens The Report: Bahrain 2012 ,

China Briefing's Business Guide to Beijing and North-East China ,2006 European Land Law Peter

Sparkes,2007-11-30 In his remarkable path breaking new book Peter Sparkes takes stock of the development of a distinctive body of European land law taking as his starting point the idea that methods of land holding permitted by a legal system both

shape and reflect the attitudes of the land owners and society in general However it quickly becomes very difficult to test that idea when the society in question is governed by an internal market composed of 30 countries the EU 27 including Bulgaria and Romania and the EEA 3 whose property systems differ so markedly and which reflect such widely differing cultures Yet the internal market has already effected a gradual equalisation and standardisation across Europe as foreign capital spreads to create equality of yield We all become better off by joining a larger trading block but the social consequences will be profound Brits will need to emigrate to the continent to afford a home Bulgarians will need to make way for them along the Black Sea coast and title deeds will be reshuffled all over Europe on a giant Monopoly board writes the author in his preface before embarking on a dispassionate examination of the beginning of that process of profound change The opening chapters are devoted to an explanation of how the internal market has created a substantive European land law Chapter 3 examines the rise of a distinctive European land law and the development of conflicts principles applying to recovery of land Chapters 5 to 9 on the marketing and sale of land focus upon Community competence on consumer protection The decision to treat land as a product like any other in the Unfair Commercial Practices Directive will have wide ranging and far reaching implications and apart from marketing of land and of timeshares other chapters deal with conveyancing contracting and the emerging market in mortgage credit The book concludes with a miscellany of conflicts rules which are gradually coalescing and form the elements from which a substantive European land law can be forged A number of topics which it is not possible to cover in detail VAT other taxes environmental controls and agriculture are touched on briefly and the same is true of international aspects of trusts and succession
