The Botany Of Desire:

The Botany of Desire Michael Pollan, 2001-06-12 The book that helped make Michael Pollan the New York Times bestselling author of Cooked and The Omnivore's Dilemma one of the most trusted food experts in America In 1637 one Dutchman paid as much for a single tulip bulb as the going price of a town house in Amsterdam Three and a half centuries later Amsterdam is once again the mecca for people who care passionately about one particular plant though this time the obsessions revolves around the intoxicating effects of marijuana rather than the visual beauty of the tulip How could flowers of all things become such objects of desire that they can drive men to financial ruin In The Botany of Desire Michael Pollan argues that the answer lies at the heart of the intimately reciprocal relationship between people and plants In telling the stories of four familiar plant species that are deeply woven into the fabric of our lives Pollan illustrates how they evolved to satisfy humankind's most basic yearnings and by doing so made themselves indispensable For just as we've benefited from these plants the plants in the grand co evolutionary scheme that Pollan evokes so brilliantly have done well by us The sweetness of apples for example induced the early Americans to spread the species giving the tree a whole new continent in which to blossom So who is really domesticating whom Weaving fascinating anecdotes and accessible science into gorgeous prose Pollan takes us on an absorbing journey that will change the way we think about our place in nature

The Botany of Desire Michael Pollan, 2003 Pollan tells the story of four domesticated species the apple the tulip marijuana and the potato and describes how each has thrived by satisfying humankind's most basic desires

This Is Your Mind on Plants Michael Pollan,2022-07-19 The instant New York Times bestseller A Washington Post Notable Book One of NPR s Best Books of the Year Expert storytelling Pollan masterfully elevates a series of big questions about drugs plants and humans that are likely to leave readers thinking in new ways New York Times Book Review From 1 New York Times bestselling author Michael Pollan a radical challenge to how we think about drugs and an exploration into the powerful human attraction to psychoactive plants and the equally powerful taboos Of all the things humans rely on plants for sustenance beauty medicine fragrance flavor fiber surely the most curious is our use of them to change consciousness to stimulate or calm fiddle with or completely alter the qualities of our mental experience Take coffee and tea People around the world rely on caffeine to sharpen their minds But we do not usually think of caffeine as a drug or our daily use as an addiction because it is legal and socially acceptable So then what is a drug And why for example is making tea from the leaves of a tea plant acceptable but making tea from a seed head of an opium poppy a federal crime In This Is Your Mind on Plants Michael Pollan dives deep into three plant drugs opium caffeine and mescaline and throws the fundamental strangeness and arbitrariness of our thinking about them into sharp relief Exploring and participating in the cultures that have grown up around these drugs while consuming or in the case of caffeine trying not to consume them Pollan reckons with the powerful human attraction to psychoactive plants Why do we go to such great lengths to seek these shifts in consciousness and then why do we fence that universal desire with laws and customs and fraught feelings In this unique blend of history science and memoir as well as participatory journalism Pollan examines and experiences these plants from several very different angles and contexts and shines a fresh light on a subject that is all too often treated reductively as a drug whether licit or illicit But that is one of the least interesting things you can say about these plants Pollan shows for when we take them into our bodies and let them change our minds we are engaging with nature in one of the most profound ways we can Based in part on an essay published almost twenty five years ago this groundbreaking and singular consideration of psychoactive plants and our attraction to them through time holds up a mirror to our fundamental human needs and aspirations the operations of our minds and our entanglement with the natural world

Statements about the Botany of Desire Max Masey, 2013-04 In this book we have hand picked the most sophisticated unanticipated absorbing if not at times crackpot original and musing book reviews of The Botany of Desire Don't say we didn't warn you these reviews are known to shock with their unconventionality or intimacy Some may be startled by their biting sincerity others may be spellbound by their unbridled flights of fantasy Don't buy this book if 1 You don't have nerves of steel 2 You expect to get pregnant in the next five minutes 3 You've heard it all The Herb Quarterly, 2003 The Garden, 2003 Harper's, 2002 Talking Leaves, 2000 The New Humanities Reader Richard Earl Miller, Kurt Spellmeyer, 2005 The New Humanities Reader presents 32 challenging and important essays from diverse fields that address current global issues The authors contend that there is a crisis within the humanities today due to specialization within narrow fields of scholarship resulting in a higher education system that produces students who lack the general cross disciplinary knowledge needed to better understand today's complex world The selections encourage students to synthesize and think critically about ideas and research formerly kept apart This approach challenges readers to resist mimetic thinking and instead creatively connect ideas to help them understand and retain what they read Through this process of reading discussing and writing students develop the analytical skills necessary to become informed citizens Focused on today s issues the selections represent both well known nonfiction authors and newly published writers and are drawn from such periodicals as The New Yorker and Natural History and from best selling books including Reading Lolita in Tehran Fast Food Nation and Into the Wild Students will be engaged by reading and rereading analyzing and working with these selections not simply because they are models of good writing but because they are also deeply thought provoking pieces that invite readers to respond
