

1 Painful heat stimulus activates thermal pain receptor in finger.

2 Action potentials are generated in afferent pathway, which propagates impulses to the spinal cord.

3 Spinal cord serves as the integrating center. Here afferent neuron stimulates:
 (a) excitatory interneurons, which stimulate motor neurons to biceps.
 (b) inhibitory interneurons, which inhibit motor neurons to triceps.
 (c) interneurons that are part of ascending pathway to brain.

4 One efferent pathway stimulates biceps to contract. Other efferent pathway leads to relaxation of triceps by preventing counterproductive excitation and contraction of this antagonistic muscle.

5 The biceps and triceps are effectors. Resultant flexion of elbow joint pulls hand away from painful stimulus. This response completes the withdrawal reflex.

6 Events that occur in brain on arrival of signal via ascending pathway, such as awareness of pain, memory storage, and so on, are above and beyond reflex arc.
