The Middle Years:

Nahuatl in the Middle Years Frances E. Karttunen, James Lockhart, 1976 Notes of a Son and Brother and The Middle Years Henry James, 2011-05-03 After a childhood divided between America and Europe Henry James settled with his family in New England first in what he regarded as an outpost of Europe Newport and later in Cambridge The family letters the initial inspiration for this autobiographical enterprise many of which recount the early career of William James at Harvard and in Germany also reveal Henry James Sr's views on the intellectual philosophical and social issues of the time Henry Jr aspiring to be just literary acknowledges his indebtedness to the widely cultured artist John La Farge whose friendship he enjoyed during adolescence The Civil War is recorded through the letters of his younger brother Wilky while Henry recalls a Whitmanesque longing for the Union soldiers he met and talked to The death of a beloved cousin Mary Temple who would become the inspiration for some of his greatest fictional heroines is documented through the passionate questioning letters she wrote in her final year of life In The Middle Years James newly resident in London gives his impressions of some of the literary lions of the time most notably George Eliot and Tennyson This first fully annotated critical edition of Notes of a Son and Brother and The Middle Years both offers the reader extensive support in appreciating the demands of James's late prose and illuminates the context in which one of literature's most influential figures developed a characteristic voice Safe at Last in the Middle Years Margaret Marganroth Gullette, 2016-02-16 Discovering the midlife progress novel Gullette finds in recent fiction a pervasive tension between decline and a new ideology of aging Appropriately she invites the reader to join the writers in their therapeutic discourse Rosemary Franklin American Literature This book certainly makes you think What is it that can happen in middle age to make it as it is for many people the clearest and sweetest time of life Frank Conroy The New York Times Reading & Writing in the Middle Years David Booth, 2001 An exploration of the latest and most successful approaches to teaching reading and writing to students in grades four to eight students in these middle school years are already reading and writing but they need help in continuing to develop their literacy strategies and in constructing meaning with a variety of resources It begins with the basic information that teachers need for understanding the reading and writing processes and offers techniques for making literacy events meaningful to these growing students Suggestions are made for how to make connections to print texts and the students world how to expand and monitor comprehension and how to design instructional frameworks for supporting developing readers and writers and effective ways to make nonfiction more meaningful for them Rubrics assessment checklists and a bibliography complement this accessible resource Belonging, Identity, Time and Young People's Engagement in the Middle Years of School Seth Brown, Peter Kelly, Scott K. Phillips, 2020-09-19 This book explores the complex ways in which belonging identity and time are entangled in shaping young people engagement with the middle years of school The authors argue that these entanglements need to be understood in ways that move beyond a focus on why individual young people engage with the middle years Instead there should be a focus on the socio ecologies of particular places and the ways in which these ecologies shape the possibilities of young people engaging productively in the middle years Drawing on extensive qualitative data from an outer urban metropolitan context this book will appeal to scholars of sociology education and policy studies
