Transiciones Todd Ruecker,2015-02-15

Transiciones is a thorough ethnography of seven Latino students in transition between high school and community college or university

Data gathered over two years of interviews with the students their high school English teachers and their writing teachers and administrators at postsecondary institutions reveal a rich picture of the conflicted experience of these students as they attempted to balance the demands of schooling with a variety of personal responsibilities

Todd Ruecker explores the disconnect between students writing experiences in high school and higher education and examines the integral role that writing plays in college

Considering the almost universal requirement that students take a writing class in their critical first year of college he contends that it is essential for composition researchers and teachers to gain a fuller understanding of the role they play in supporting and hindering Latina and Latino students transition to college

Arguing for situating writing programs in larger discussions of high school college alignment student engagement and retention

Transiciones raises the profile of what writing programs can do while calling composition teachers administrators and scholars to engage in more collaboration across the institution across institutions and across disciplines to make the transition from high school to college writing more successful for this important group of students
