those looking to begin their journey or for those who've been on the path for some time this book is a must for those who fancy all things audio. Sonic Engagement Sarah Woodland, Wolfgang Vachon, 2022-12-28 Sonic Engagement examines the relationship between community engaged participatory arts and the cultural turn towards audio sound and listening that has been referred to as the sonic turn. This edited collection investigates the use of sound and audio production in community engaged participatory arts practice and research. The popularity of podcast and audio drama combined with the accessibility and portability of affordable field recording and home studio equipment makes audio a compelling mode of participatory creative practice. This book maps existing projects occurring globally through a series of case study chapters that exemplify community engaged creative audio practice. The studies focus on audio and sound based arts practices that are undertaken by artists and arts led researchers in collaboration with and from within communities and groups. These practices include applied audio drama, community engaged podcasting, sound and verbatim theatre, participatory sound art, community led acoustic ecology, sound and media walks, digital storytelling, oral history and reminiscence, and radio drama in health and community development. The contributors interrogate the practical, political and aesthetic potentialities of using sound and audio in community engaged arts practice as well as its tensions and possibilities as an arts led participatory research methodology. This book provides the first extensive analysis of what sound and audio brings to participatory interdisciplinary arts led approaches, representing a vital resource for community arts performance practice and research in the digital age.

Music and Ethics Marcel Cobussen, Nanette Nielsen, 2016-04-22 It seems self-evident that music plays more than just an aesthetic role in contemporary society. In addition, music's social, political, emancipatory and economical functions have been the subject of much recent research. Given this, it is surprising that the subject of ethics has often been neglected in discussions about music. The various forms of engagement between music and ethics are more relevant than ever and require sustained attention. Music and Ethics examines different ways in which music can in itself, in a uniquely musical way, contribute to theoretical discussions about ethics as well as concrete moral behaviour. We consider music as process and music making as interaction. Fundamental to our understanding is music's association with engagement, including contact with music through the act of listening, music as an immanent critical process that possesses profound cultural and historical significance and as an art form that can be world-disclosive, formative of subjectivity and contributive to intersubjective relations. Music and Ethics does not offer a general musical-ethical theory but explores ethics as a practical concept and demonstrates through concrete examples that the relation between music and ethics has never been absent.
