

Born a Crime

Extended Answer Study Questions

1. What is the significance of the title "Born a Crime" in Trevor Noah's book?

The significance of the title is that it represents the author's life. When Trevor Noah was born, it was illegal in South Africa for a White person and a Black person to have a baby or be married. Trevor Noah was born to a Black Xhosa Mother and a Swiss father which made him a crime.

2. What is interesting or unusual about the structure of the book, based on the opening parts and the first chapter?

Noah uses a non-linear structure for the novel as he jumps back and forth between the past and the present. Humour is used predominantly to retell serious moments within Noah's life and is used as a way to connect readers to Noah's life and the audience's perspectives.

3. Why do you think Noah's mother chooses to stay in South Africa, rather than leave like many other parents with coloured children?

I believe Noah's mother remained in South Africa due to her resilience and passion for her son to be raised within South Africa. Noah's mother's strong cultural ties within the country as a Xhosa woman made her want to raise her son within their homeland.

4. What is the serious message underpinning Noah's very funny anecdote in chapter 3?

My understanding of the underlying message is that the overview of the lifestyle that people endured during apartheid made most South Africans feel inhumane. On page 42, Noah says "There was no indoor running water, just one communal outdoor tap and one outdoor toilet shared by six or seven houses." The main situation of the chapter is that Trevor relieved himself inside to feel humane but couldn't clean up in time and led his mother to believe a demon had cursed the house. The funny anecdote of making his mother believe that a demon brought the "waste" into the house is underpinned by the inhumane terms that Apartheid brought onto most of the population of African descent.

5. Explain the significance of religion and spirituality in Noah's upbringing.

Throughout the novel, we see the use of religion and spirituality interconnect with one another and provide the audience with a background on how Noah was brought up. Noah would go to three different churches every Sunday, his mother would hold prayer groups at their family home and whilst Noah's mother was very religious, she was also very spiritual as she was a Xhosa woman and believed in her tribe following.

6. What is the link between language and race?

As Noah grew up in South Africa, he interacted with people from different backgrounds which made him develop into learning different languages so he was able to communicate with anyone whom he came into contact. Whilst Noah was born to a Xhosa mother and a Swiss father, being a mixed-race person made Noah feel invisible and irrelevant as mixed people in South Africa were considered a crime during Apartheid. If though Noah had trouble fitting in racially, he was able to fit in off his knowledge of languages which included English, Xhosa, Zulu and Afrikaans.

7. What do you think Noah means when he says, "with the black kids, I just was"?

During Apartheid, the white South Africans were a class above the black and mixed south Africans and South Africa was essentially a different country during this time. Due to Noah being
