The Lean Startup Method The Lean Startup is comprised of five principles which make up the majority of the book These principles include Entrepreneurs are everywhere Ries states that you don't have to be a business owner to be classified as an entrepreneur This means that entrepreneurs can be found everywhere in every sector of business and in companies of varying size Entrepreneurship is management A startup is more than just the product or service being sold If you think of a startup as an institution that constantly grows and changes based on the extreme uncertainty of the market you start to get the idea In fact Ries even suggests making the term entrepreneur a managerial job title filled by someone who is adept at reacting to market changes as they occur Validated Learning One of the major benefits to creating a startup is learning how to build a sustainable business In other words it's about more than just creating products making money and serving customers Build Measure Learn The fundamental idea behind every startup is to turn an idea into a product measure customer feedback and then decide whether to change course or persevere The Lean Startup method encourages accelerating this feedback loop as much as possible Innovation Accounting Measuring progress setting up milestones and learning how to prioritize tasks will help to improve entrepreneurial outcomes while holding innovators accountable This is accomplished using a new accounting method designed specifically for startups Many of these principles are ideas originally developed by Toyota a company which has spearheaded the lean manufacturing movement Ries has taken the time to apply many of these same principles to businesses of all sizes both startups and established companies The result of Ries' work is known as the Lean Startup methodology This book was written to welcome what Ries refers to as Management's Second Century Modern startups cannot rely on what has worked in the past Rather startups require a new set of tactics tactics that have been incorporated into the Lean Startup process These tactics will ensure the future success of entrepreneurs around the world

The Lean Education Manifesto Arran Hamilton, John Hattie, 2022-03-30 The global expansion of education is one of the greatest successes of the modern era More children have access to schooling and leave with higher levels of learning than at any time in history However 250 million children in developing countries are still not in school and 600 million attend but get little out of it a situation further exacerbated by the dislocations from COVID 19 In a context where education funding is stagnating and even declining Arran Hamilton and John Hattie suggest that we need to start thinking Lean and explicitly look for ways of unlocking more from less Drawing on data from 900 systematic reviews of 53 000 research studies from the perspective of efficiency of impact they controversially suggest that for low and middle income countries Maybe pre service initial teacher training programs could be significantly shortened and perhaps even stopped Maybe teachers need not have degree level qualifications in the subjects they teach and they might not really need degrees at all Maybe the hours per week and years of schooling that each child receives could be significantly reduced or at least not increased Maybe learners can be taught more effectively and less resource intensively in mixed age classrooms with peers tutoring one another Maybe different approaches to curriculum instruction and the length of the school day might be more cost effective ways of driving up student achievement than hiring extra teachers reducing class sizes or building more classrooms Maybe school based management public private partnerships and performance related pay are blind and expensive alleys that have limited influence or impact on what teachers actually do in classrooms This groundbreaking and thought provoking work also identifies a range of initiatives that are worth starting It introduces the Learning to GO L D methodology to support school and system leaders in selecting implementing and scaling those high probability initiatives and to rigorously de implement those to be stopped It is essential reading for anyone with an interest in education
