

Tips for naming molecules

There are always things that I have found useful over the years. Here are some tips for naming organic molecules for basic purposes that work for practically all systems.

Remember that the name of an organic molecule has three parts:

- Numbering (priority)
- Base: the parent chain (length and C/C bonding)
 - o First realize that even and odd numbering
- Suffix: substituents dictated by the highest priority functional group

1. Start off by identifying the highest priority functional group. This helps you determine the suffix of the molecule's name which can help you determine where you start numbering the parent chain. In subsequent paragraphs, we will see how you begin to identify the parts of the molecule that will be added to the prefix.

There only have C and H atoms left you have functional groups that are based on priority functional groups. The prefix is the key.

2. There begins to find the longest continuous carbon chain you can (the only thing is: branching is good)

- Make sure that your parent chain contains the highest priority functional group. Some systems have ruled out this last sentence
 - o Carbonyls, nitriles, aldehydes, esters, amides, amines
- Find the other side of the chain that most carbon chains are the longest the most to keep complete (branching)
- Always contain all the functional groups and multiple bonds in the structure

3. Begin to number the carbons. Functional number therefore needs a way that they avoid the ambiguity of the parent chain number by the following substituents (or other not groups):

- The highest priority functional group
- Any multiple bonds
- The substituent closest to the end
- The complete the name from alphabetically

4. Once you have numbered the parent chain, present now the appropriate name to indicate the length of the chain.

5. Identify the system of substituents (nitriles, aldehydes, ketones, amines, alcohols, alkenes, etc.) that will be added to the parent chain. Identify each substituent with the (the name of the name numbering)

- Only C/C single bonds: "and"
