Morakinyo,2023-06-10 Although there have been significant strides to transform the demographics of archive and museum personnel develop new museums and heritage institutions and heritage training initiatives in post apartheid South Africa the Eurocentric model of the archive museum and heritage sector has largely remained intact Despite the euphoria around the transformation of heritage in the beginnings of post apartheid South Africa it can be argued that the transformation of heritage institutions has been superficial and cosmetic with the ideological foundation of the colonial archive and museum as well as Eurocentric modalities of heritage education remaining solid largely unmoved and under continuing challenge This is the thrust of this book which reflects on the transformation of archives and museum and heritage education in South Africa and argues for meaningful transformation of the sector through a decolonisation from its Eurocentric mooring Colonial Heritage and Urban Transformation in the Global South Christian Ernssten,2021-10-27 This book traces and analyses the role of heritage in the urban transformation of the city of Cape Town By looking at discourses of heritage and urban design the book shows how Cape Town positions itself as an emerging global city in the context of a series of global events The book points at how a heritage focus on the themes of post colonial and post apartheid reconciliation restitution and memory in the city shifts to a focus on creativity design and the arts Thereby showing how traumatic remnants of colonialism and apartheid are reframed as design challenges Furthermore it argues that the idea of a transformed society is projected into a future time and the chaotic present everyday life is left to its own devices Against this backdrop the book lays out the opportunities for epistemological reset and decolonial reflection on the city s deep histories its embedded injustices and traumas that surfaced

Postcolonial Nations, Islands, and Tourism Helen Kapstein, 2017-07-11 Postcolonial Nations Islands and Tourism examines how real and literary islands have helped to shape the idea of the nation in a postcolonial world. Through an analysis of a variety of texts ranging from literature to prison correspondence to tourist questionnaires it exposes the ways in which nationalism relies on fictions of insularity and intactness which the island and island tourism appear to provide. The island space seems to offer the ideal replica of the nation and tourist practices promise the liberation of leisure the gaze and mobility. However the very reliance on the constantly shifting and eroding island form exposes an anxiety about boundaries and limits on the part of the postcolonial nation. In appropriating island tourism the new nation tends to recapitulate the failures and crises of the colonial nation before it. Starting with the first literary tourist Robinson Crusoe Postcolonial Nations Islands and Tourism goes on to show how authors such as JM Coetzee Romesh Gunesekera and Julian Barnes have explored the outlines and implications of islandness. It argues that each text expresses a profound discomfort with national form by undoing the form of the island through a variety of narrative strategies and rhetorical manoeuvres. By throwing the category of the island into crisis these texts let uncertainties about the postcolonial nation and its violent practices emerge as doubt in the narratives themselves. Finally in its selection of texts that shuttle between South Africa Great Britain and Sri Lanka equalizing the former colonial metropole and its outposts it offers an alternative disciplinary mapping of current postcolonial writing.
