University Of Pretoria Prospectors 2015:

Assessing Academic Literacy in a Multilingual Society Albert Weideman, John Read, Theo du Plessis, 2020-11-02 South African universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy. The dominant medium of instruction in the universities is English and to a much lesser extent Afrikaans but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages. Nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools. The focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully. The volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by South African educators to a wider international audience.

Universities, the Citizen Scholar and the Future of Higher Education J. Arvanitakis, D. Hornsby, 2016-06-01 The future of higher education is in question as universities struggle to remain relevant to the present and future needs of society. The context in which learning occurs is rapidly changing and those engaged and interested in the place and position of university education need to figure out to adapt. This book embodies a vision for higher education where graduate attributes and proficiencies are at the core of the academic project where degree programs move beyond disciplinary content and where students are encouraged to be Citizen Scholars. Through a series of cross disciplinary and contextual cases the contributors to this book articulate how this vision can be achieved in our pedagogical environments.

future proofing higher education From Student to Urban Planner Tuna Taşan-Kok, Mark Oranje, 2017-12-06 For many young planners the noble intentions with going to planning school seem starkly out of place in the neoliberal worlds they have come to inhabit. For some the huge gap between the power they thought they would have and what they actually do is not only worrying but also deeply discouraging. But for some others practice means finding practical and creative solutions to overcome challenges and complexities. How do young planners in different settings respond to seemingly similar situations like these? What do they do: give up, adjust or fight back? What role did their planning education play and could it have helped in preparing and assisting them to respond to the world they are encountering? In this edited volume stories of young planners from sixteen countries that engage these questions are presented. The sixteen cases range from settings with older established planning systems e.g. USA, the Netherlands and the UK to settings where the system is less set e.g. Brazil being remodeled e.g. South Africa and Bosnia Herzegovina and under stress e.g. Turkey and Poland. Each chapter explores what might be done differently to prepare young planners for the complexities and challenges of their real worlds. This book not only points out what is absent but also offers planning educators an alternative vision. The editors and esteemed contributors provide reflections and suggestions as to how this new generation of young planners can be supported to survive, embrace and change the world they are encountering and in the spirit of planning endeavor to
