The Essential Thoreau Henry David Thoreau, 2016-12-10 I learned this at least by my experiment that if one advances confidently in the direction of his dreams and endeavors to live the life which he has imagined he will meet with a success unexpected in common hours Rather than love than money than fame give me truth How vain it is to sit down to write when you have not stood up to live I went to the woods because I wished to live deliberately to front only the essential facts of life and see if I could not learn what it had to teach and not when I came to die discover that I had not lived I did not wish to live what was not life living is so dear nor did I wish to practise resignation unless it was quite necessary I wanted to live deep and suck out all the marrow of life to live so sturdily and Spartan like as to put to rout all that was not life to cut a broad swath and shave close to drive life into a corner and reduce it to its lowest terms The question is not what you look at but what you see Dreams are the touchstones of our characters The mass of men lead lives of quiet desperation What is called resignation is confirmed desperation From the desperate city you go into the desperate country and have to console yourself with the bravery of minks and muskrats A stereotyped but unconscious despair is concealed even under what are called the games and amusements of mankind There is no play in them for this comes after work But it is a characteristic of wisdom not to do desperate things The animal merely makes a bed which he warms with his body in a sheltered place but man having discovered fire boxes up some air in a spacious apartment and warms that instead of robbing himself makes that his bed in which he can move about divested of more cumbrous clothing maintain a kind of summer in the midst of winter and by means of windows even admit the light and with a lamp lengthen out the day You must live in the present launch yourself on every wave find your eternity in each moment Fools stand on their island of opportunities and look toward another land There is no other land there is no other life but this details Thoreau's experiences over the course of two years two months and two days in a cabin he built near Walden Pond amidst woodland owned by his friend and mentor Ralph Waldo Emerson. The book can be seen as performance art a demonstration of how easy it can be to acquire the four necessities of life. Once acquired he believed people should then focus their efforts on personal growth. By immersing himself in nature Thoreau hoped to gain a more objective understanding of society through personal introspection. Simple living and self sufficiency were Thoreau's other goals and the whole project was inspired by transcendentalist philosophy a central theme of the American Romantic Period. Also included in this edition is Thoreau's essay Civil Disobedience. In it Thoreau argues that individuals should not permit governments to overrule or atrophy their consciences and that they have a duty to avoid allowing such acquiescence to enable the government to make them the agents of injustice.
