Hill, 2008-02-02 As our understanding of the biological sciences expands the boundaries between traditional disciplines tend to blur at the edges Physiologists and pharmacologists for instance now need to embrace techniques that until recently were the strict preserves of biochemists and molecular biologists However the acquisition of new technologies can be a time consuming and frustrating business and unless an expert is on hand to give instruction precious hours can be spent poring over half described Methods sections with no guarantee of eventual success The aim of Signal Transduction Protocols has been to get experts with hands on experience in particular techniques to give detailed accounts of experimental protocols in a recipe type format which we hope will circumvent the problems of ambiguity often encountered when reading the literature The techniques described in Signal Transduction Protocols are those that we think will be most useful in addressing questions in the area of receptor mediated cell signaling
