Almost All Aliens Paul Spickard,Francisco Beltrán,Laura Hooton,2022-09-15 Almost All Aliens offers a unique reinterpretation of immigration in the history of the United States Setting aside the European migrant centered melting pot model of immigrant assimilation Paul Spickard Francisco Beltr n and Laura Hooton put forward a fresh and provocative reconceptualization that embraces the multicultural racialized and colonially inflected reality of immigration that has always existed in the United States Their astute study illustrates the complex relationship between ethnic identity and race slavery and colonial expansion Examining the lives of those who crossed the Atlantic as well as those who crossed the Pacific the Caribbean and the North American Borderlands Almost All Aliens provides a distinct inclusive and critical analysis of immigration race and identity in the United States from 1600 until the present The second edition updates Almost All Aliens through the first two decades of the twenty first century recounting and analyzing the massive changes in immigration policy the reception of immigrants and immigrant experiences that whipsawed back and forth throughout the era It includes a new final chapter that brings the story up to the present day This book will appeal to students and researchers alike studying the history of immigration race and colonialism in the United States as well as those interested in American identity especially in the context of the early twenty first century

Cuban Music Counterpoints Marysol Quevedo, 2023 Cuban Music Counterpoints traces the continuities and ruptures in the Cuban classical music scene between 1940 and 1991 The book focuses on specific events objects and compositions that reveal how composers forged connections with local and foreign composers visual artists writers dancers and film makers by placing them within emergent global social political and cultural contexts

Foreign-born African Americans Festus E. Obiakor, Patrick A. Grant, 2002 In this book immigrant minorities from Africa and the Caribbean tell their unique stories These new Americans recount their travels in the American maze and thus allow their voices to be heard Who really cares for these voices They do care and Americans should care Foreign born African Americans frequently find themselves in precarious situations They confront three intriguing questions How Black are they How much racism do they endure How do they survive in spite of the odds In reality they are Blacks who are Black enough to encounter problems that other Blacks in America experience However they also understand that they must succeed in a competitive complex society like America On the one hand they are grateful to be in America but on the other hand they wonder why they must cross so many rubicons to achieve their goals This book is unique Never before have voices of Africans from Africa and the Caribbean been heard in this manner These voices provide multidimensional cases for scholars educators program planners community leaders and politicians This book could be a required text for courses in international global education intercultural education and multicultural education It could also be a supplementary text for courses in general education and African American Studies In fact it should be on the reading list of every American interested in making our world a better place to live
