Cultural Heritage, Transnational Narratives and Museum Franchising in Abu Dhabi Sarina Wakefield, 2020-09-22 This publication contributes to new understandings of how heritage operates as a global phenomenon and the transnational heritage discourses that emerge from this process Taking such a view sees autochthonous and franchised heritage not as separate or opposing elements but as part of the same process of contemporary globalised identity making which contributes to the development of newly emergent cosmopolitan identities The book critically examines the processes that are involved in the franchising of heritage and its cultural effects It does so by examining the connections and tensions that emerge from combining autochthonous and franchised heritage in the United Arab Emirates providing a unique window in to the process of creating hybrid heritage in non Western contexts It develops new ideas about how this global phenomenon works how it might be characterised and how it influences and is itself affected by local forms of heritage By exploring how autochthonous and franchised heritage is produced in Abu Dhabi in the United Arab Emirates it becomes clear that Western dominated practices are often challenged and perhaps more importantly that new ways of understanding producing and living with heritage are being articulated in these previously marginal locations The book offers innovative insights into heritage as a transnational process exploring how it operates within local national and international identity concerns and debates It will appeal to scholars and students interested in critical heritage studies museums tourism cultural studies and Middle Eastern studies □□□□2030 □□•□□□□, 2024-12-25 Au Naturel Stephen L. Harp, 2014-05-12 Each year in France approximately 15 million people practice naturisme or naturism an activity more commonly referred to as nudism Because of France's unique tolerance for public nudity the country also hosts hundreds of thousands of nudists from other European nations an influx that has contributed to the most extensive infrastructure for nude tourism in the world In Au Naturel historian Stephen L. Harp explores how the evolution of European tourism encouraged public nudity in France connecting this cultural shift with important changes in both individual behaviors and collective understandings of the body morality and sexuality Harp's study the first in depth historical analysis of nudism in France challenges widespread assumptions that sexual liberation freed people from repression a process ostensibly reflected in the growing number of people practicing public nudity Instead he contends naturism gained social acceptance because of the bodily control required to participate in it New social codes

emerged governing appropriate nudist behavior including where one might look how to avoid sexual excitation what to wear when cold and whether even the most modest displays of affection including hand holding and pecks on the cheek were permissible between couples Beginning his study in 1927 when naturist doctors first advocated nudism in France as part of air water and sun cures Harp focuses on the country's three earliest and largest nudist centers the le du Levant in the Var Montalivet in the Gironde and the Cap d'Agde in Hérault These places emerged as thriving tourist destinations Harp shows because the municipalities by paradoxically reinterpreting indecency as a way to foster European tourism to France worked to make public nudity more acceptable Using the French naturist movement as a lens for examining the evolving notions of the body and sexuality in twentieth century Europe Harp reveals how local practices served as agents of national change
