Environment, Space, Place: Volume 8, Issue 1 (Spring 2016) C. Patrick Heidkamp; Troy Paddock; Christine Petto, CONTENTS Victor COUNTED Making Sense of Place Attachment Towards a Holistic Understanding of People Place Relationships and Experiences ABSTRACT The article is an attempt to make sense of the different interdisciplinary perspectives associated with people s attachment to places with a view to construct a holistic template for understanding peopleplace relationships and experiences We took note of the theoretical contributions of Jorgensen a theory of evolved tastes such as that developed by Dennis Dutton and an aesthetics of evolving nature based on Carlson s positive aesthetics After exploring both theories I argue that while the two positions approach aesthetics from different directions they support similar aesthetic judgments concerning landscapes and this suggests that the two positions might be incorporated into a broader theory of evolutionary aesthetics Th at theory is briefly outlined and applied to both natural landscapes and parks Jeffrey B WEBB Watershed Redesign in the Upper Wabash River Drainage Area 1870 1970 ABSTRACT The Huntington Salamonie and Mississinewa reservoirs in northern Indiana control seasonal flooding in the Upper Wabash River drainage area They appeared in the 1960s after a long period of study and planning in response to large scale flooding in central and southern Indiana in the first half of the twentieth century Th eir construction disrupted the pattern of human ecology along the Wabash and its tributaries for many of the watershed s inhabitants Supporters touted the projects economic and recreational benefits while opponents experienced the change as a desecration of sacred space Th e projects saved millions in property damage and perhaps many human lives but at the cost of an enduring sense of place amid the advent of a new regime of scientific watershed management and state control over natural resources in the region Winnie L M YEE Fashion Affect and Poetry in a Global City ABSTRACT Everyday life is a central theme of Hong Kong poetry Many Hong Kong poets use the quotidian as a starting point for the exploration of history and alternative imaginings Th is mundane focus unlike the colonial dreamscape of Hong Kong as an economic miracle allows writers to reflect upon Hong Kong as a post colonial and global space Th e Hong Kong writer Natalia Chan examines the complex nature of everyday life within the space of the global and post colonial city Chan s poems deal with the essence of everydayness and use commodities to conjure up the vivacity of the urban landscape of Hong Kong Unlike the political and economic discourse that is usually used to define Hong Kong Chan s

work portrays Hong Kong as a city that offers the possibility of daily recreation against the background of history In this article we will examine Chan's use of the circulation of commodities in the global world and explore the way fashion becomes a point where high and popular culture private and public domains and local and global interests clash negotiate and fertilize each other Chan's works do not conform to the economic and prosperity discourse that has repressed Hong Kong rather she guides her readers to re-experience the everydayness of routines to celebrate alternate ways of understanding the urbanscape and to open themselves to the potentialities of art and the everyday Emmanuel YEWAH African Documentaries Films Texts and Environmental Issues ABSTRACT This study draws from theoretical environmental debates as well as a selection of films documentaries and texts to discuss Africans approaches to environmental and ecological problems Furthermore it highlights the various strategies that Africans have developed in their attempts to provide holistic and much more comprehensive responses to environmental challenges Informed by African indigenous knowledge those strategies do involve community based micro level initiatives grassroots organizations ancestral spirits and use local languages or lingua franca to educate as well as prod the people's consciousness about environmental and ecological issues REVIEWS Lorna Lueker ZUKAS Forgotten World Directed by Terri Ella Derek SHANAHAN The View from the Train Cities and Other Landscapes By Patrick Keiller Korea Yearbook (2009) Rüdiger Frank, Jim Hoare, Patrick Kölner, Susan Pares, 2009 The 2009 edition of the Korea yearbook contains concise overview articles covering domestic developments and the economy in both South and North Korea as well as inter Korean relations and foreign relations of the two Koreas in 2008 A detailed chronology complements these articles South Korea related refereed articles in the 2009 edition deal with the internal politics of the Democratic Labour Party the origins of the nuclear industry industrial relations in the metals sector Cheju island as a medical tourism hub President Lee Myung bak as seen through political cartoons the comfort women movement's regionalisation process and perceptions of North Korean women Additional refereed articles analyse the reliability of North Korean survey data the migration experience of North Korean refugees and sports related cooperation between the two Koreas Interior, Environment, and Related Agencies Appropriations for 2011 United States. Allen, 2019-04-02 The world's fourth largest island with a unique biological and physical endowment Madagascar is home to an extraordinary insular civilization that has struggled for more than a century against external domination In this sensitive introduction to the Indian Ocean's great island Philip Allen shows how family affinities and community loyalties at the foundation of Madagascar's culture have influenced Malagasy nationalism and forged islandwide traditions These same principles have nonetheless engendered social cleavages and resistance to economic and political change In chapters on modern Madagascar Allen analyzes the inability of a series of regimes to maintain authority among a people deeply bound to rituals of communication with their spiritual environment He demonstrates how the first Malagasy Republic became stigmatized by its lingering identification with French colonialism and how the nationalist revolution in 1972 soon hardened into autocratic radicalism Allen explores the complex challenges facing Madagascar s resurgent democratic forces including a need to conserve the island s irreplaceable biodiversity and to facilitate authentic participation in public affairs without offending ancestral customs and local precedents Finally he discusses efforts to end Madagascar s economic and political dependence and to improve living conditions for its tragically impoverished population

Creating Wilderness Patrick Kupper,2014-07-01 The history of the Swiss National Park from its creation in the years before the Great War to the present is told for the first time in this book Unlike Yellowstone Park which embodied close cooperation between state supported conservation and public recreation the Swiss park put in place an extraordinarily strong conservation program derived from a close alliance between the state and scientific research This deliberate reinterpretation of the American idea of the national park was innovative and radical but its consequences were not limited to Switzerland The Swiss park became the prime example of a scientific national park thereby influencing the course of national parks worldwide
