Koelewijn ,Julie Choisne,2024-10-25 The current trend towards digitalization of human centred engineering processes in conjunction with advances in bio mechanistic modelling high performance computing artificial intelligence AI and sensor technology leads to unprecedented transformation potentials in medical product and human factors engineering for the enhancement of human technology interaction as well as medical treatment outcomes Biomechanical simulations hold high potential by revealing the processes and inner strain conditions of the human body For reliable simulation results a model suitable for the application and a way to measure estimate predict the human motion behaviour and the interaction with the environment and or interacting technology are necessary In this context we refer to a human digital twin as an extension and

Mechanical and Mechatronic Systems Marek Krawczuk,Magdalena Palacz,2021-09-02 Modern engineering practice requires advanced numerical modeling because among other things it reduces the costs associated with prototyping or predicting the occurrence of potentially dangerous situations during operation in certain defined conditions Thus far different methods have been used to implement the real structure into the numerical version The most popular uses have been variations of the finite element method FEM The aim of this Special Issue has been to familiarize the reader with the latest applications of the FEM

Grzebieta,2000-10-04 As mankind continues to push back the boundaries and begins to explore other worlds and the ocean depths a thorough understanding of how structures behave when subjected to extremes in temperature pressure and high loading rates will be essential This symposium provided the perfect forum for presenting research into structures subjected to such extreme loads There were a large number of papers presented under topics of impact blast and shock loading indicating a strong research interest in high rates of loading Similarly new topics have been added to the traditional symposium list such as fire loading earthquake loading and fatigue and connection failures It is clear now that fundamental knowledge of plastic deformation of structures to various extreme loads is coming of age Each full paper was peer reviewed by at least two experts in the field
