Scale, Crisis, and the Modern Novel Aaron Rosenberg, 2023-11 At the turn of the twentieth century novelists faced an unprecedented crisis of scale While exponential increases in industrial production resource extraction and technological complexity accelerated daily life growing concerns about deep time evolution globalization and extinction destabilised scale's value as a measure of reality Here Aaron Rosenberg examines how four novelists moved radically beyond novelistic realism repurposing the genres romance melodrama gothic and epic it had ostensibly superseded He demonstrates how H G Wells Thomas Hardy Joseph Conrad and Virginia Woolf engaged with climatic and ecological crises that persist today requiring us to navigate multiple temporal and spatial scales simultaneously The volume shows that problems of scale constrain our responses to crisis by shaping the linguistic aesthetic and narrative structures through which we imagine it This title is part of the Flip it Open Programme and may also be available Open Access Check our website Cambridge Core for details

The Madder Stain Annie Ramel, 2015-06-02 The madder stain imprinted on Tess d'Urberville's arm is part of a motif which runs through Hardy's fiction Similar to Barthes's punctum shooting out of the studium the stain is a place where the Real erupts a blind spot that eludes interpretation In the diegesis of the tragic novels it is a surplus object whose intrusion disrupts reality and spells disaster This book attempts to approach that unknowable kernel of jouissance by using Lacan's concepts of object gaze and object voice sometimes revisited by Žižek The stain has a vocal quality it is silence audible In a world where sound cannot reverberate for lack of a structural void voice is by necessity muted stuck in the throat Hence the peculiar quality of Tess's voice a silent feminine cry that has retained something of the lost vocal object The sound of silence is what Hardy's poetic prose allows us to hear

The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record, 1926 The Vital Science \(Routledge Revivals\) Peter Morton, 2014-08-01 In this title first published in 1984 Peter Morton argues that in late Victorian Britain a group of novelists and essayists quite consciously sought and found ideas in post-Darwinian biology that were susceptible to imaginative transformation The period between 1860 and 1900 was a time of great confusion in biology the natural selection hypothesis was in retreat before its acute critics and no extension of evolutionary theory to human affairs was too bizarre to attract its quota of enthusiasts Writers capitalised on this prevailing uncertainty and used it to their own artistic or polemic ends A fascinating and interdisciplinary title this reissue will interest students of late Victorian literature as well as historians of biological theory between The Origin of Species and Mendel
