The growth of machines and users of the Internet has led to the proliferation of all sorts of data concerning individuals institutions companies governments universities and all kinds of known objects and events happening everywhere in daily life Scientific knowledge is not an exception to the data boom The phenomenon of data growth in science pushes forth as the number of scientific papers published doubles every 9 15 years and the need for methods and tools to understand what is reported in scientific literature becomes evident As the number of academicians and innovators swells so do the number of publications of all types yielding outlets of documents and depots of authors and institutions that need to be found in Bibliometric databases These databases are dug into and treated to hand over metrics of research performance by means of Scientometrics that analyze the toil of individuals institutions journals countries and even regions of the world The objective of this book is to assist students professors university managers government industry and stakeholders in general understand which are the main Bibliometric databases what are the key research indicators and who are the main players in university rankings and the methodologies and approaches that they employ in producing ranking tables The book is divided into two sections The first looks at Scientometric databases including Scopus and Google Scholar as well as institutional repositories The second section examines the application of Scientometrics to world class universities and the role that Scientometrics can play in competition among them It looks at university rankings and the methodologies used to create these rankings Individual chapters examine specific rankings that include QS World University Scimago Institutions Webometrics U Multirank U S News World Report The book concludes with a discussion of university performance in the age of research analytics Weapons of Math Destruction Cathy O'Neil, 2016 A former Wall Street quantitative analyst sounds an alarm on mathematical modeling a pervasive new force in society that threatens to undermine democracy and widen inequality NoveList Political Economy and American Capitalism Rodney D. Peterson, 2012-12-06

We are now witness to the waning years of the 1900s Soon we shall embark upon a bold journey into the uncharted territory of the twenty first of various persuasions have speculated as to what the century Futurists oncoming decades might bestow upon us Not surprising most predictions are closely tied to advances in technology especially in astrophysiCS biochemistry electronics and genetics But what about the economic system Whatever happens forces have undoubtedly already been set in motion which will mold or remold the structure and character of American capitalism American capitalism has been is and will undoubtedly continue to be a system in transition Technology perennially changes albeit at a faster or slower pace sometimes than others and society s institutions continually adjust to these technological changes Such adjustments alter the character of our politico economic system when statutes are enacted court decisions rendered administrative agency rules promulgated and cultural mores realigned to supplant old ones Other adaptations are brought about when small group collective action is successful in causing a special status of privilege to be conferred on some members of society but restrictions to be levied on others

Elite MBA Programs at Public Universities Mimi Wolverton, Larry Penley, 2004-11-30 Business education programs should practice what they preach applying the principles of strategic analysis to play to their strengths and develop distinctive offerings that attract the most profitable customers in this case students faculty local communities and the institutions that support them financially With the costs of private MBA programs skyrocketing public universities which generally operate out of the spotlight of the Harvards and Whartons have a tremendous opportunity to distinguish themselves as centers of innovative high quality education Mimi Wolverton and Larry Penley conducted extensive research to identify the qualities of those public institutions across the country from the University of Washington to Georgia Tech that have successfully established competitive advantages generally through a combination of cost leadership differentiation and focus Elite MBA Programs at Public Universities features 12 in depth case studies by senior representatives of the respective institutions detailing the process by which they developed and launched programs to raise their profiles and ultimately compete aggressively for talent and support From developing strategic alliances with local businesses and complementary academic departments to establishing online and overseas courses to investing in state of the art facilities these schools are setting new standards for business education and measuring the positive results for example in terms of increased funding higher faculty research productivity higher rankings and greater student diversity Wolverton and Penley frame the case studies by applying the concepts of strategy theory drawing lessons that can be applied in other educational institutions as well as for students of strategy and general readers interested in emerging trends in business education The result is a fascinating peek behind the scenes at the most innovative MBA programs as well as a rich canvas for observing the principles of strategic management in action Air University Review, 1982-09

Snell, 2012-12-06 Knowledge we have in great abundance and enough exists if wisely used to solve many of the most threatening problems of humanity The key word is wisely wisdom we sorely lack There is a special role to be played by distinguished scholars who having passed the most challenging tests of their specialized fields are willing to confront the central questions of human existence What is life where is the boundary between life and non life Why do we behave as we do What is the meaning of human existence Where do ethical precepts come from What should be the goals of civilization beyond mere survival and hedonic reward These are the kinds of topics George Snell boldly addresses in Search for a Rational Ethic Scientific knowledge is especially important in any such endeavor because we are in the golden age of science and scientific research increasingly impinges on the domain of philosophy Indeed it is not too much to say that philosophy has consisted to a large extent of failed neurological models Much of its investigation pivots on how the mind works that is to what extent the mind can perceive reality how concepts are formed what is the source of moral reasoning and so forth In creasingly scientific research is leading us to the physical basis of mind If we are ever to create the correct neurological model it will be through science
