Terror On The Internet The New Arena The New Challenges:

Terror on the Internet Gabriel Weimann, 2006 Drawing on a seven year study of the World Wide Web and a wide variety of literature the author examines how modern terrorist organizations exploit the Internet to raise funds recruit and propagandize as well as to plan and launch attacks and to publicize their chilling results , Fight, Flight, Mimic Diego Gambetta, 2024 Fight Flight Mimic is a systematic study of deceptive mimicry in the context of wars Deceptive mimicry the manipulation of individual or group identity includes passing off as a different individual as a member of a group to which one does not belong or for a group to sign its action as another group Mimicry exploits the reputation of the model it mimics to avoid capture flight to strike undetected at the enemy fight or to hide behind or besmirch the reputation of the model group false flag operations These tactics have previously been described anecdotally mixed in with other ruses de guerre but the authors show that mimicry is a distinct form of deception with its own logic and particularly consequential effects on those involved Jihadi Culture on the World Wide Web Gilbert Ramsay, 2013-10-10 Choice Outstanding Academic Title 2014 This volume examines jihadi content on the Internet by drawing on both Arabic and English primary source materials After examining this content as digital media the work looks at how it is productively consumed by online communities including how jihadi individuals construct themselves online and how jihadism is practiced and represented as an online activity The work also discusses the consumption of such jihadi media by those who are hostile to radical Islam and the relation between fantasy pleasure ideology and ordinary life This unique survey features case studies such as the cyberjihadi Irhabi 007 pro US and Israeli patriots who are often openly Islamophobic and Infovlad a forum that became the meeting place for radical Islamists and radical freelance counter terrorists This innovative approach to studying violent content on the Internet is a significant contribution to the literature that will appeal to anyone interested in political violence terrorism and political communication Georgetown Journal of International Affairs, Winter/Spring 2015 Anna Newby, Georgia Pelletier, 2015-03-11 The Georgetown Journal of International Affairs is the official publication of the Edmund A Walsh School of Foreign Service at Georgetown University Each issue of the journal provides readers with a diverse array of timely peer reviewed content penned by top policymakers business leaders and academic luminaries The Journal takes a holistic approach to international affairs and features a Forum that offers focused analysis on a specific key issue with each new edition of the publication as well as nine regular sections Books Business Economics Conflict Security Culture Society Law Ethics A Look Back Politics Diplomacy Science Technology and View from the Ground Religion and Violence in Russia Olga Oliker, 2018-06-13 Religious violence is surely as old as both faith and fighting themselves In the Russian Federation as elsewhere in the world religious teachings and philosophies are used both to justify and combat violence While many including Russian authorities increasingly view religious conflict through the prism of violent radical Islamic jihadism the full picture is much more complicated It includes religious propaganda employed by violent right wing groups violent repression of religious communities and organizations by local and federal authorities and conflict within religious confessions Violence may be couched in the language of self defense as modernity clashes with a multitude of perceived and real traditions A better understanding of the dynamics at the heart of religious violence in Russia in its many manifestations is critical to the country's future development and its security The analyses collected in this volume aim to contribute to the body of knowledge on these topics and inform policy solutions to make Russia and Russians of all religions and no religion safer and more secure

Confronting the Internet's Dark Side Raphael Cohen-Almagor, 2015-06-30 Terrorism cyberbullying child pornography hate speech cybercrime along with unprecedented advancements in productivity and engagement the Internet has ushered in a space for violent hateful and antisocial behavior How do we as individuals and as a society protect against dangerous expressions online Confronting the Internet's Dark Side is the first book on social responsibility on the Internet It aims to strike a balance between the free speech principle and the responsibilities of the individual corporation state and the international community This book brings a global perspective to the analysis of some of the most troubling uses of the Internet It urges net users ISPs and liberal democracies to weigh freedom and security finding the golden mean between unlimited license and moral responsibility This judgment is necessary to uphold the very liberal democratic values that gave rise to the Internet and that are threatened by an unbridled use of technology

Combating Violent Extremism and Radicalization in the Digital Era Khader, Majeed, Neo, Loo Seng, Ong,

Gabriel, Mingyi, Eunice Tan, Chin, Jeffery, 2016-04-21 Advances in digital technologies have provided ample positive impacts to modern society however in addition to such benefits these innovations have inadvertently created a new venue for criminal activity to generate Combating Violent Extremism and Radicalization in the Digital Era is an essential reference for the latest research on the utilization of online tools by terrorist organizations to communicate with and recruit potential extremists and examines effective countermeasures employed by law enforcement agencies to defend against such threats Focusing on perspectives from the social and behavioral sciences this book is a critical source for researchers analysts intelligence officers and policy makers interested in preventive methods for online terrorist activities Responses to Cyber Terrorism . Centre of Excellence - Defence Against Terrorism, Ankara, Turkey, 2008-02-28 The one issue touched on repeatedly by the contributors of this publication is the difficulty of arriving at a definition of cyber terrorism A NATO Office of Security document cautiously defines it as a cyber attack using or exploiting computer or communication networks to cause sufficient destruction or disruption to generate fear or to intimidate a society into an ideological goal But the cyber world is surely remote from what is recognized as terrorism the bloody attacks and ethnic conflicts or more precisely the politically motivated intention to cause death or serious bodily harm to civilians or non combatants with the purpose of intimidating a population or compelling a government UN report Freedom from Fear 2005 It is hard to think of an instance when computer code has physically harmed anyone Yet a number of contributors show that exactly such events potentially on a huge scale can be expected For example attacks on critical infrastructure in particular on SCADA Supervisory Control and Data Acquisition systems which control physical processes in places like chemical factories dams and power stations A part of the publication examines cyber terrorism in the proper sense of the term and how to respond in terms of technology awareness and legal political measures However there is also the related question of responding to the terrorist presence on the Internet so called terrorist contents Here the Internet is not a weapon but an important tool for terrorists communications coordination training recruiting and information gathering on the targets of planned attacks Freedom and Terror Gabriel Weimann, Abraham Kaplan, 2011-01-07 This book examines reason and unreason in the legal and political responses to terrorism Terrorism is often perceived as sheer madness unreasonable use of extreme violence and senseless futile political action These assertions are challenged by this book Combining traditional thought by Kaplan on reason and unreason in terrorism with empirical explorations of post modern terrorism and its use of communication platforms by Weimann the work uses interdisciplinary and cross disciplinary dimensions to provide a multidimensional picture of critical issues in current politics and a deeper examination of their implications than previously available The book looks at various aspects of modern politics from terrorism to protest from decision making to political discourse applying the perspective of philosophical thought To do so political issues and actions are examined by using concepts such as reason emotions madness magic morality absolutism extremism psychopathology rationality and others The analysis is rooted in theories and concepts derived from history philosophy religion art sociology psychology and political science This book which was mostly written by the late Abraham Kaplan an American philosopher and edited and updated by Gabriel Weimann will be of much interest to students of political violence terrorism philosophy war and conflict studies and political science in general Foreign Fighters under International Law and Beyond Andrea De Guttry, Francesca Capone, Christophe Paulussen, 2016-02-27 This book offers various perspectives with an international legal focus on an important and underexplored topic which has recently gained momentum the issue of foreign fighters It provides an overview of challenges pays considerable attention to the status of foreign fighters and addresses numerous approaches both at the supranational and national level on how to tackle this problem Outstanding experts in the field lawyers historians and political scientists contributed to the present volume providing the reader with a multitude of views concerning this multifaceted phenomenon Particular attention is paid to its implications in light of the armed conflicts currently taking place in Syria and Iraq Andrea de Guttry is a Full Professor of International Law at the Scuola Superiore Sant Anna Pisa Italy Francesca Capone is a Research Fellow in Public International Law at the Scuola Superiore Sant Anna Christophe Paulussen is a Senior Researcher at the T M C Asser Instituut in The Hague the Netherlands and a Research Fellow at the International Centre for Counter Terrorism The Hague innovation brings ideas into life While disruptions may be common place in the business world where disruptive technologies displace pre existing ones they are less prevalent in defence even less so within the realm of security For the last 10 years there has been talk of disruptive technologies and even adoption of terms such as emerging and disruptive technologies by the largest military alliance NATO yet the means to assess these remain elusive It offers researchers opportunities to assess different types of disruptions ideate and innovate on scientific grounds to counter disruptions thereby bolstering the defence and security community s ability to make decisions better
