Geodynamics of Rifting P.A. Ziegler,2015-12-04 This volume contains papers giving an interdisciplinary review of 12 major rift systems from North and South America Africa Europe and Asia These papers are written by an international group of academic and industrial specialists each of whom is most knowledgeable about the respective rift The analyzed rifts were selected on the basis of availability of an as complete as possible geological and geophysical data base Thirteen papers deal with geodynamic processes governing the evolution of rifts A comprehensive digest of the available stratigraphic structural geophysical and petrological data together with an extensive list of references is provided for each of the analyzed rift systems The megatectonic setting and dynamics of evolution of each basin is discussed Geodynamic models are tested against the record of the analyzed rifts The question of active as against passive rifting is addressed The rifts analyzed range in age from Precambrian to Recent and cover a wide spectrum of megatectonic settings There is discussion of the evolution of rifts in a plate tectonic frame The case histories are followed by discussions addressing the global setting of rifts and geodynamic processes active during the development of rifted basins      Population Health Intervention Research Daniel W. Harrington, Sara McLafferty, Susan J. Elliott, 2016-07-22 Health geographers are well situated for undertaking population health intervention research PHIR and have an opportunity to be at the forefront of this emerging area of inquiry However in order to advance PHIR the scientific community needs to be innovative with its methodologies theories and ability to think critically about population health issues For example using alternatives e g community based participatory research to traditional study designs such as the randomised control trial health geographers can contribute in important ways to understanding the complex relationships between population health both intended and unintended consequences interventions and place Representing a diverse array of health concerns ranging across chronic and infectious diseases and research employing varied qualitative and quantitative methodologies the contributions to this book illustrate how geographic concepts and approaches have informed the design and planning of intervention s and or the evaluation of health impacts For example the authors argue that geographically targeting interventions to places of high need and tailoring interventions to local place contexts are critically important for intervention success Including an afterword by Professor Louise Potvin this book will appeal to researchers interested in population and public community health and epidemiology as well as health geography      Structure from Motion in the Geosciences Jonathan L. Carrivick, Mark W. Smith, Duncan J. Quincey, 2016-07-15 Structure from Motion with Multi View Stereo provides hyperscale landform models using images acquired from standard compact cameras and a network of ground control points The technique is not limited in temporal frequency and can provide point cloud data comparable in density and accuracy to those generated by terrestrial and airborne laser scanning at a fraction of the cost It therefore offers exciting opportunities to characterise surface topography in unprecedented detail and with multi temporal data to detect elevation position and volumetric changes that are symptomatic of earth surface processes This book firstly places Structure from Motion in the context of other digital surveying methods and details the Structure from Motion workflow including available software packages and assessments of uncertainty and accuracy It then critically reviews current usage of Structure from Motion in the geosciences provides a synthesis of recent validation studies and looks to the future by highlighting opportunities arising from developments in allied disciplines This book will appeal to academics students and industry professionals because it balances technical knowledge of the Structure from Motion workflow with practical guidelines for image acquisition image processing and data quality assessment and includes case studies that have been contributed by experts from around the world      Regional Impacts of EPA Carbon Regulations United States.
