Unisa English Studies University of South Africa. Department of English, 1969 Alternation, 2001 A World of Their Own Meghan Healy-Clancy, 2014-06-19 The politics of black education has long been a key issue in southern African studies but despite rich debates on the racial and class dimensions of schooling historians have neglected their distinctive gendered dynamics A World of Their Own is the first book to explore the meanings of black women's education in the making of modern South Africa Its lens is a social history of the first high school for black South African women Inanda Seminary from its 1869 founding outside of Durban through the recent past Employing diverse archival and oral historical sources Meghan Healy Clancy reveals how educated black South African women developed a tradition of social leadership by both working within and pushing at the boundaries of state power She demonstrates that although colonial and apartheid governance marginalized women politically it also valorized the social contributions of small cohorts of educated black women This made space for growing numbers of black women to pursue careers as teachers and health workers over the course of the twentieth century After the student uprisings of 1976 as young black men increasingly rejected formal education for exile and street politics young black women increasingly stayed in school and cultivated an alternative form of student politics Inanda Seminary students experiences vividly show how their academic achievements challenged the narrow conceptions of black women's social roles harbored by both officials and black male activists By the transition to democracy in the early 1990s black women outnumbered black men at every level of education introducing both new opportunities for women and gendered conflicts that remain acute today Social Welfare and Social Work in Southern Africa Ndangwa Noyoo, 2021-06-11 This book is written by Southern African social welfare social work social development social security and social policy academics practitioners and advocates who have varying degrees of experience The authors who contributed chapters to this book added their perspectives to ongoing debates about academic areas in the region Thus the book's primary objective is to discuss the development of social welfare and social work in Southern Africa In doing so it endeavours to contribute to the existing body of knowledge on social welfare and social work in the region The chapters are examined through different theoretical lenses and historical perspectives In this book African scholars academics and practitioners provide a deep and critical reflection of social welfare social work and related disciplines during the colonial and post colonial era a period characterised by a deliberate move by Africa's political administrations to focus on nation building and to attempt to make Africa a global player Despite being endowed with rich natural resources like minerals agriculture and solid family and extended family life the continent is weak globally Furthermore the book focuses on the pre colonial period a golden thread running through the chapters The book discusses the colonial era when Western countries capture and oppression of Africa characterised the continent's history This book is an appropriate publication at this point in our history a resource that can be used to generate appropriate narratives and questions within the social welfare and social development sector particularly on delivery education and training Minority Protection in Post-Apartheid South Africa Kristin Henrard, 2002-08-30 Accommodation of population diversity is a vital issue for any multinational society The legacy of Apartheid in South Africa complicates this effort considerably Henrard introduces a theoretical framework regarding how to accommodate minority protection in the most appropriate way and analyzes the respective contributions of individual rights minority rights and the right to self determination Subsequent chapters examine the case study of post apartheid South Africa and attempt to investigate its constitutional development Henrard finds that provisions within the 1996 Constitution do acknowledge an interrelation between these three important factors however implementation of minority protection policy is often quite a different matter In seeking appropriate means of minority protection this study stresses inclusionism integration and the essential right to identity and real equality While Henrard reviews and discusses the entire democratic transformation process in South Africa she cautions that because current developments are characterized by their unsettled nature major transformation and flux analysis of the implementation phase can be only indicative The apartheid history does not in itself inhibit progressive stances on this important issue Still despite the promising nature of the 1996 Constitution the picture that emerges in terms of policy development aimed at minority protection is ambivalent The Black Who's who of Southern Africa Today Sheila Keeble, 1982 Fallen Walls Lynda Gilfillan, 2017-12-02 This collection of prison writings straddles two continents and compares and contrasts the political struggles that gave birth to two vibrant new democracies of the twenty first century South Africa and the Czech Republic The triumph over decades of suffering endured by the ordinary citizens of these two countries is symbolized by their leaders Nelson Mandela and Vaclav Havel While the moral stature of these two men continues to act as a beacon for other political aspirants in a new century they call upon us all to acknowledge the role played by ordinary men and women in effecting freedom and justice For this reason Fallen Walls focuses on the experiences of ordinary prisoners of conscience It records three voices from the apartheid era cells of Robben Island Joseph Mati Johnson Mgabela Monde Mkunqwana and three voices from communist era prisons in Czechoslovakia Jiri Mesicki Lola Skodova and Jiri Stransky There are striking similarities as well as differences between the two sets of stories On a personal level the tales from Robben Island are characterized by an absence of bitterness and thoughts of revenge while a sense of bleak isolation and lingering bitterness pervades accounts from the Czechoslovakian prisons and labor camps The buoyant tone of triumph of the South Africans is balanced by the darker more skeptical mood of the Czechs In an age that teeters so precariously between hope and despair the narratives of these six prisoners of conscience remind us not only of what we are but also of what we may become In a timely warning against complacency Vaclav Havel notes in his foreword that the authors remind us anew of the price that is so often paid for freedom and democracy Fallen Walls will be of interest to historians sociologists human rights activists and political scientists Fallen Walls Jan K. Coetzee, Lynda Gilfillan, Otakar Hulec, This collection of prison writings straddles two continents and compares and contrasts the political struggles that gave birth to two vibrant new democracies of the twenty first century South Africa and the Czech Republic The triumph over decades of suffering endured by the ordinary citizens of these two countries is symbolized by their leaders Nelson Mandela and Vaclav Havel While the moral stature of these two men continues to act as a beacon for other political aspirants in a new century they call upon us all to acknowledge the role played by ordinary men and women in effecting freedom and justice For this reason Fallen Walls focuses on the experiences of ordinary prisoners of conscience It records three voices from the apartheid era cells of Robben Island Joseph Mati Johnson Mgabela Monde Mkunqwana and three voices from communist era prisons in Czechoslovakia Jiri Mesicki Lola Skodova and Jiri Stransky There are striking similarities as well as differences between the two sets of stories On a personal level the tales from Robben Island are characterized by an absence of bitterness and thoughts of revenge while a sense of bleak isolation and lingering bitterness pervades accounts from the Czechoslovakian prisons and labor camps The buoyant tone of triumph of the South Africans is balanced by the darker more skeptical mood of the Czechs In an age that teeters so precariously between hope and despair the narratives of these six prisoners of conscience remind us not only of what we are but also of what we may become In a timely warning against complacency Vaclav Havel notes in his foreword that the authors remind us anew of the price that is so often paid for freedom and democracy Fallen Walls will be of interest to historians sociologists human rights activists and political scientists

Teacher Preparation in South Africa Linda Chisholm, 2019-10-09 The book will focus on the emergence of a racially divided system of teacher preparation and its dismantling post apartheid It will explore the policies and politics of discrepant pathways to teacher preparation within the context of international and comparative trends African Nurse Pioneers in KwaZulu/Natal - 1920-2000 Mazo Sybil T. Buthelezi, 2004 This book is about seven African nurse pioneers in KwaZulu Natal from 1920 to 2000 The author captures the early nursing activities of the 1920s to 1970 and then moves to nurses that entered the health services in the 1950s The author also presents two nurses that worked outside South Africa i.e. did their pioneering nursing in Saudi Arabia and the United States of America The author does not scoop nursing out of its context but creates a narrative that resonates in lived experiences in a world dominated by the Africanization of poverty the feminization of poverty globalization racism and xenophobia South Africa ,1989 Education, South Africa 1989-90 ,1990

Staying Strong in Detention ,1989 The Women's Directory ,1995 Speaking of Jesus Willem S. Vorster, 2014-04-09 This volume presents a selection of essays by the late Willem Vorster one of the most prominent New Testament scholars to have emerged from South Africa An introductory essay by the editor explains Vorster's contribution to New Testament scholarship in general and to South African New Testament scholarship in particular Vorster's essays are grouped primarily under the topics Language and Linguistics Reader Response Narratology Historical Paradigms and The Historical Jesus In addition to his work on method Vorster was a well known Markan scholar and this is reflected in the fact that more than half of his methodological essays are concerned with that Gospel The book includes a curriculum vitae a full of the Transkei Legislative Assembly Transkei (South Africa). Legislative Assembly,1976-03 Assessing Academic Literacy in a Multilingual Society Albert Weideman,John Read,Theo du Plessis,2020-11-02 South African universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy The dominant medium of instruction in the universities is English and to a much lesser extent Afrikaans but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages Nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools The focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully The volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by South African educators to a wider international audience Navorsingsverslag ,1995
