Trade Unions and the Age of Information and Communication Technologies in Kenya Eric E. Otenyo, 2017-03-01 Trade Unions and the Age of Information and Communication Technologies in Kenya provides a comprehensive description of the use of ICTs within the trade union movement in Kenya In this book Professor Eric Otenyo explores the intersection between new technologies and union as key stakeholders in national governance and development The dearth of research on how trade unions can play a part in the new economy continues to undermine the effective use of ICTs in development This book brings to light the challenges that unions face while navigating the new economy and netstate characterized by a proliferation of ICTs and globalization

Theory, Knowledge, Development and Politics Mawere, Munyaradzi, Nhemachena, Artwell, 2016-05-03 This volume interrogates the popularity of problematic theories in the study of Africa and Africans in the 21st century The book provides ethnographic and intellectual material for scholars seeking to rethink and reimagine a number of externally imposed theories used unconsciously in Africa with the intention of raising awareness and fostering critical thinking amongst scholars theorising Africa With its theorising focus and contributors drawn from diverse disciplines and geographical locations the book is both a pacesetter on how to think research and theorise Africa and an invaluable asset for social scientists development practitioners civil society activists and leaders in the politics and economy of everyday life on the continent It poses an invitation to those seeking to re embrace and reconnect with theory as an indispensable ingredient and determinant of quality in critical production and consumption of knowledge on Africa and of relevance to Africans

The Stolen Bible Gerald O. West, 2016-08-09 The Stolen Bible tells the story of how Southern Africans have interacted with the Bible from its arrival in Dutch imperial ships in the mid 1600s through to contemporary post apartheid South Africa The Stolen Bible emphasises African agency and distinguishes between African receptions of the Bible and African receptions of missionary colonial Christianity Through a series of detailed historical geographical and hermeneutical case studies the book analyses Southern African receptions of the Bible including the earliest African encounters with the Bible the translation of the Bible into an African language the appropriation of the Bible by African Independent Churches the use of the Bible in the Black liberation struggle and the ways in which the Bible is embodied in the lives of ordinary Africans

Landscapes of Dread in Classical Antiquity Debbie Felton, 2018-04-27 Over the last two decades research in cultural geography and landscape studies has influenced many humanities fields including Classics and has increasingly drawn our attention to the importance of spaces and their contexts both geographical and social how spaces are described by language what spaces are used for by individuals and communities and how language use and the passage of time invest spaces with meaning In addition to this spatial turn in scholarship recent years have also seen an emotive turn an increased interest in the study of emotion in literature Many works on landscape in classical antiquity focus on themes such as the sacred and the pastoral and the emotions such spaces evoke such as respectively feelings of awe or tranquillity in settings both urban and rural Far less scholarship has been generated by the locus terribilis the space associated with negative emotions because of the bad things that happen there In short the recent emotive turn in humanities studies has so far largely neglected several of the more negative emotions including anxiety fear terror and dread The papers in this volume focus on those neglected negative emotions especially dread and they do so while treating many types of space including domestic suburban rural and virtual and while covering many genres and authors including the epic poems of Homer Greek tragedy Roman poetry and historiography medical writing paradoxography and the short story

Traditional Institutions in Contemporary African Governance Kidane Mengisteab, Gerard Hagg, 2017-06-26 Most African economies range from moderately advanced capitalist systems with modern banks and stock markets to peasant and pastoral subsistent systems Most African countries are also characterized by parallel institutions of governance one is the state sanctioned formal system and the other is the traditional system which is adhered to primarily but not exclusively by the segments of the population in the subsistence peasant and pastoral economic systems Traditional Institutions in Contemporary African Governance examines critical issues that are largely neglected in the literature including why traditional institutions have remained entrenched what the socioeconomic implications of fragmented institutional systems are and whether they facilitate or impede democratization The contributors investigate the organizational structure of traditional leadership the level of adherence of the traditional systems how dispute resolution decision making and resource allocation are conducted in the traditional system gender relations in the traditional system and how the traditional institutions interact with the formal institutions Filling a conspicuous gap in the literature on African governance this book will be of great interest to policy makers as well as students and scholars of African politics political economy and democratization

Nationalism, Politics and Anthropology Ilana van Wyk, Jimmy Pieterse, 2022-02-28 In this book Ilana van Wyk and Jimmy Pieterse interrogate the question of political subjectivity and its role in the making of anthropology and anthropologists by revisiting the pitched battles between so called liberal social anthropologists and conservative nationalist volkekundiges in South Africa They pay particular attention to the social and cultural lives of two men who were central proponents of South African anthropology s two tales Kees van der Waal a former volkekundige and John Sharp once one of volkekunde s fiercest critics Through a series of conversations with Kees and John they show that the issues that once divided a local field still animate the ways in which centres and peripheries of global anthropology relate to one another and to foundational questions about the discipline s epistemology and political positionality The Globalization of Hate Jennifer Schweppe, Mark Austin Walters, 2016-05-25

The Globalization of Hate Internationalizing Hate Crime is the first book to examine the impact of globalization on our understanding of hate speech and hate crime Bringing together internationally acclaimed scholars with researchers policy makers and practitioners from across the world it critically scrutinises the concept of hate crime as a global phenomenon seeking to examine whether hate crime can or should be conceptualised within an international framework and if so how this might be achieved Beginning with the global dynamics of hate the contributions analyse whether hate crime can be defined globally whether universal principles can be applied to the phenomenon how hatred is spread and how it impacts upon our global society The middle portion of the book moves beyond the broader questions of globalisation to jurisdictional examples of how globalization impacts upon our understanding of and also our responses to hate crime The chapters explore in greater detail what is happening around the world and how the international concepts of hate crime are being operationalised locally drawing out the themes of globalization and internationalization that are relevant to hate crime as evidenced by a number of jurisdictions from Europe the US Asia and Africa The final part of the book concludes with an examination of the different ways in which hate speech and hate crime is being combatted globally International law internet regulation and the use of restorative practices are evaluated as methods of addressing hate based conflict with the discussions drawn from existing frameworks as well as exploring normative standards for future international efforts Taken together these innovative and insightful contributions offer a timely investigation into the effects of hate crime offering an interdisciplinary approach to tackling what is now a global issue It will be of interest to scholars and students of criminology sociology and criminal justice as well as criminal justice practitioners police officers and policy makers

this book Umkhonto we Sizwe Thula Simpson,2016-03-01 The armed struggle waged by the ANC s military wing Umkhonto we Sizwe MK was the longest sustained insurgency in South African history This book offers the first full account of the rebellion in its entirety from its early days in the 1950s to the inauguration of Nelson Mandela as South African president in 1994 Vast in scope this story traverses every corner of South Africa and extends throughout southern Africa where MK s largest campaigns and heaviest engagements occurred as well as to the solidarity networks that the rebellion mobilised around the world Drawing principally from previously unpublished writings and testimonies by the men and women who fought the armed struggle this book recreates the drama heroism and tragedy of their experiences It tells the story of leaders like Nelson Mandela Oliver Tambo Joe Slovo and Chris Hani whose reputations were forged in the crucible of the armed struggle but it is also a tale of martyrs such as Looksmart Ngudle Ashley Kriel and Phila Ndwandwe as well as of MK cadres such as Leonard Nkosi and Glory Sedibe who would ultimately turn against the ANC and collaborate with the state in hunting down their former comrades Written in a fresh immediate style Umkhonto we Sizwe is an honest account of the armed struggle and a fascinating chronicle of events that changed South African history Muslim Americans Nahid Afrose Kabir,2016-08-12 With Islamophobia on the rise in the US since 9 11 Muslims remain the most misunderstood people in American society Taking as its point of departure the question of the compatibility of Islam and democracy this book examines Muslims sense of belonging in American society Based on extensive interview data across seven states in the US the author explores the question of what it means to be American or un American amongst Muslims offering insights into common views of community culture and wider society Through a combination of interviewees responses and discourse analysis of print media Muslim Americans also raises the question of whether media coverage of the issue might itself be considered un American An empirically grounded study of race and faith based relations this book undertakes a rigorous questioning of what it means to be American in the contemporary US As such it will appeal to scholars of sociology and political science with interests in race ethnicity religion and national identity Accounting theories, practices, education and human capital formation trends ,2025-09-15 This book aims to provide empirical and conceptual insights into contemporary accounting theories practices education and approaches adopted to advance human capital formation in the discipline Although new accounting practices have emerged in the modern world conceptual and empirical research that provides a holistic comprehensive understanding of these evolutions and human capital approaches used to promote capabilities formation in accounting remains scarce Contemporary research often focuses on developing a framework for integrating accounting practices while coverage of human capital development is limited Instead research strands on accountancy and human capital are growing separately without a comprehensive empirical and conceptual framework for integrating the two concepts Insights on accounting practices and human capital developments are necessary for building a holistic understanding of the two concepts and working towards adopting an interdisciplinary approach The findings in this book seek to advocate for the need to develop highly skilled generations who may meet the requisite accounting and financial capabilities required in the modern global economy This book adopts both conceptual and empirical methods to address the gap in the literature on the need for research that focuses on human capital formation in the accounting and finance discipline It contributes an interdisciplinary perspective on the intersectionality between accounting practice and the human capital formation of individuals who possess the requisite knowledge

Geriatric Medicine Michael R. Wasserman, Debra Bakerjian, Sunny Linnebur, Sharon Brangman, Matteo Cesari, Sonja Rosen, 2024-02-19 Both volumes sold as a combined set for a one time purchase Older adults represent the most rapidly growing demographic in the U S and in many developed countries around the world The field of geriatric medicine is still relatively young and is only recently seeing a significant increase in peer reviewed literature Medicare and Medicaid expenditures related to older adults are nearly a trillion dollars year in the US How our healthcare system cares for older adults and how those older adults navigate an increasingly complex system is of the utmost importance According to the Institute of Medicine physicians and other healthcare professionals receive an inadequate amount of training in geriatric medicine Geriatric medicine is based on the concept of delivering person centered care with a focus on function and quality of life It is essential that physicians nurse practitioners physician assistants pharmacists social workers and other health care professionals all be knowledgeable about the geriatric approach to care Geriatric medicine varies from most other fields in medicine While many specialties function on the basis of evidence based literature geriatricians and other clinicians caring for older adults must integrate relatively limited evidence with variable physiological changes and complex psychosocial determinants Geriatricians are used to caring for 90 year olds with multiple chronic illnesses Their variable physiology leads to uncertain responses to pharmacotherapy and their personal goals and wishes need to be incorporated into any plan of care Practicing geriatric medicine requires the ability to see patterns But it goes one step further as the rules are constantly in flux Every patient is an individual with particular needs and goals In order to provide true person centered care to older adults one has to incorporate these factors into the decision making process The proposed handbook is designed to present a comprehensive and state of the art update that incorporates existing literature with clinical experience Basic science and the physiology of aging create a background but are not the main focus This is because every chapter has been written through the lens of person centered care This book is about focusing on what matters to the person and how that is not always about pathology and physiology The reader generally will not find simple solutions to symptoms diseases and syndromes In fact the key to caring for geriatric patients is the ability to think both critically and divergently at the same time Geriatrics encompasses multiple disciplines and spans all of the subspecialties It requires knowledge of working within an interdisciplinary team It requires an appreciation of how quality of life varies with each individual and creates treatment and care plans that also vary And most of all it requires a firm commitment to first learning who the person is so that all of the necessary data can be analyzed and integrated into a true person centered plan of care This book aims to serve as an unparalleled resource for meeting these challenges Updated and revised from the previous edition this text features over 40 new peer reviewed chapters new references and a wide array of useful new tools that are updated on a regular basis by interdisciplinary and interprofessional experts in geriatric medicine
