No Last Place to Rest Dineo Skosana, 2025-02 Examines the impact of coal mining on the lives of rural communities in post apartheid South Africa No Last Place to Rest Coal Mining and Dispossession in South Africa is an exploration of the ongoing struggles faced by families in the Mpumalanga and KwaZulu Natal provinces of South Africa whose lives have been upended by the relentless expansion of coal mining operations These regions burdened with the task of fulfilling the nation's energy needs and boosting the country's economy witness daily the harsh realities of dispossession that extend far beyond the mere loss of property Dineo Skosana presents a compelling argument that dispossession remains a present day reality and crisis contradicting the notion that it is merely a relic of the past in the post apartheid landscape It challenges the narrow perspective that equates land loss in material and economic terms only Skosana considers the impact of grave relocations a common occurrence in these mining dominated locales and the profound spiritual anguish and dehumanisation communities endure as their lands are excavated In African societies connections to the land extend beyond the material land has a sacred and ancestral value Grave relocations disrupt this connection families have with their ancestors In dispossessing not only the living but also the dead from their lands the author argues that the act wounds the collective soul of a people eroding their cultural heritage and collective identity and belonging This book offers a rich ethnographic account of the experiences struggles and resistance of the affected communities as well as a critical analysis of the legal and policy frameworks that enable their exploitation In relation to the land question in South Africa No Last Place to Rest presents deep insights for communities activists and government sectors acting in support of social justice and redress

Fees Must Fall Susan Booysen, 2016-10-01 This book explores the student discontent a year after the start of the 2015 South African FeesMustFall revolt FeesMustFall the student revolt that began in October 2015 was an uprising against lack of access to and financial exclusion from higher education in South Africa More broadly it radically questioned the socio political dispensation resulting from the 1994 social pact between big business the ruling elite and the liberation movement The 2015 revolt links to national and international youth struggles of the recent past and is informed by black consciousness politics and social movements of the international left Yet its objectives are more complex than those of earlier struggles The student movement has challenged the hierarchical top down leadership system of university management and it's double speak of professing to act in workers and students interests yet entrenching a regressive system for control and governance University managements while on one level amenable to change have also co opted students into their ranks to create co responsibility for the highly bureaucratised university financial aid that stands in the way of their social revolution This book maps the contours of student discontent a year after the start of the FeesMustFall revolt Student voices dissect colonialism improper compromises by the founders of democratic South Africa feminism worker rights and meaningful education In depth assessments by prominent scholars reflect on the complexities of student activism its impact on national and university governance and offer provocative analyses of the power of the revolt

Social Justice and Education in the 21st Century Willie Pearson Jr., Vijay Reddy, 2021-04-10 The world is not an equal place There are high and low income countries and high and low income households For each group there are differential educational opportunities leading to differential educational outcomes and differential labor market opportunities This pattern often reproduces the privileges and inequalities of groups in a society This book explores this differentiation in education from a social justice lens Comparing the United States and South Africa this book analyzes each country's developmental thinking on education from human capital and human rights approaches in both primary and higher education The enclosed contributions draw from different disciplines including legal studies sociology psychology computer science and public policy Drum, 2007 Emerging Adulthood in the COVID-19 Pandemic and Other Crises: Individual and Relational Resources Sophie Leontopoulou, Antonella Delle Fave, 2023-01-31 This volume addresses important questions related to the well being and quality of life of emerging adults during crisis periods It discusses the particular challenges that emerging adults face during a global or local crisis the psychosocial resources they mobilize to overcome them and to flourish the well being indicators pertinent to youth development across various life domains and the strategies to promote positive youth development and well being under conditions of crisis The volume examines these questions from an international and interdisciplinary point of view collecting contributions mainly from psychology but also education economics and sociology It includes novel quantitative and qualitative research intervention studies critical reviews and conceptual chapters This makes it an essential read for scholars of positive development in emerging adulthood under crisis as well as a relevant and accessible source of information for discerning lay readers The specific focus of the majority of contributions on the Covid 19 pandemic makes this volume highly topical Its focus on both well being dimensions and problems related to crises offers a deeper understanding of the cultural similarities and differences in individual and collective challenges and resources across world regions The volume investigates various facets of well being including daily experiences relationships purpose and growth learning activities and achievements Evidence derived from the contributions to this volume can prove valuable for handling future crises through targeted interventions and programmes in different contexts and life domains
