Spetz, 1982 Training Manual for the Dictionary of Occupational Titles, Third Edition United States Employment Security Bureau, 1965 Cognitive Perspectives on Peer Learning Angela M. O'Donnell, Alison King, 2014-04-08 The contribution of this volume to the literature on peer learning is its focus on approaches that reflect a common concern with cognitive processes based in developmental information processing or more generally constructivist perspectives on peer learning Although the clear importance of the social context of peer learning is not ignored the volume's emphasis is on the cognitive growth that occurs within the learning environment Any discussion of peer learning involves consideration of who is learning how the role of peers with whom one works can be conceptualized what it is that peers learn together what changes as a result of the interaction and how we can know what occurs in groups or what has been learned The chapters in this book speak to these questions The key question underlying many of these others is why we should worry about the intricacies of peer interaction Both the practical and theoretical reasons for doing so are delineated The developmental theory presented in the Introduction lays the foundation for the later descriptions of specific techniques though many of the techniques reflect a range of other influences as well Part I presents the implications of the work of two major theorists in cognitive development Piaget Ch 1 and Vygotsky Ch 2 In Part II six chapters describe a variety of peer learning techniques or models of collaboration many of which are influenced by the work of Piaget and Vygotsky The chapters in Part III consider the role of the teacher and the skills needed when using peer learning as an instructional strategy The Conclusion points to areas in which further research is needed This volume is based on original papers presented by the contributing authors in November 1996 at the Rutgers Invitational Symposium on Education on Cognitive Skills and Learning With Peers Basic Substance Abuse Social Systems, Inc, 1978

Assessment of fisheries innovations for investment and financing in Kenya van Anrooy, R., Gietzen, T., Yang, L., Ngugi, C., Otieno, S., Essel, T., 2022-10-01. To make small scale fisheries in Kenya more sustainable, fishers need to invest in responsible fishing operations and technologies, reduce overfishing, contribute to fisheries management and implement climate change adaptation measures. Small scale fishers often do not have access to financial services to innovate and to make the necessary transition to sustainable fishing operations. Access to financial services will help them to innovate and adopt measures that will provide social, economic and environmental returns, the desired triple bottom line. The African Rural and Agricultural Credit Association (AFRACA) and FAO in collaboration with the State Department for Fisheries, Aquaculture and the Blue Economy in Kenya implemented a project to analyse and improve the access of small scale fishers to financial services in Kenya. The project identified the key finance and fisheries sector stakeholders, carried out surveys and interviews and conducted a techno-economic performance analysis of some small scale fishing fleets to investigate the potential innovations for investment. A two day stakeholder workshop was held in 2021 in which the participants agreed to constitute a CAFI SSF Network Kenyan Chapter. AFRACA developed and tested training materials on lending to the fisheries sector for financial service providers. This circular provides a summary of the project achievements.

Art-of-Living Bernhard Schmitz, 2016-09-29. This volume examines the questions of what constitutes a good life and how one can achieve happiness and well being and analyses different ways in which people can strive for a good life. First it presents an overview on important concepts in psychology that are related to living a good life. Then a new approach is introduced: the concept of art of living as a holistic way to reach happiness. Empirical studies are reported involving a questionnaire for measuring art of living and the validity of the questionnaire is demonstrated with respect to a wide range of concepts. In addition, the volume provides results from empirical studies showing that and how art of living and happiness can be enhanced. Several intervention studies are described in detail which have been performed with different groups of subjects including pupils, university students and employees. Also results of interviews are summarized which were held with people who had been nominated as exemplary artists of living. The volume concludes with a description of art of living in autobiographies and presents suggestions for further research with respect to art of living.
