Atmospheric Thermodynamics Gerald R. North, Tatiana L. Erukhimova, 2009-04-09 This textbook presents a uniquely integrated approach in linking both physics and chemistry to the study of atmospheric thermodynamics. The book explains the classical laws of thermodynamics, focuses on various fluid systems, and recognising the increasing importance of chemistry in the meteorological and climate sciences. It devotes a chapter to chemical thermodynamics which includes an overview of photochemistry. Although students are expected to have some background knowledge of calculus, general chemistry, and classical physics, the book provides set aside refresher boxes as useful reminders. It contains over 100 diagrams and graphs to supplement the discussions and a similar number of worked examples and exercises with solutions included at the end of the book. It is ideal for a single semester advanced course on atmospheric thermodynamics and will prepare students for higher level synoptic and dynamics courses.

Making Gender Equality Happen

Rosalind Cavaghan, 2017-05-25 In theory the EU's Gender Mainstreaming policy should mark it out as a trail blazer in gender equality, but gender equality activists in Europe confront a knotty problem: most civil servants and policy makers can't understand how to mainstream gender. Making Gender Equality Happen argues that we should take this problem seriously. In this book, Cavaghan uncovers the social processes that make gender appear irrelevant to so many policy makers using a new method: gender knowledge contestation analysis. Building on this new perspective, Cavaghan identifies barriers to effective gender mainstreaming, mechanisms of resistance to gender mainstreaming, and the steps towards positive change which gender mainstreaming can yield even when results stop short of transformation. These findings present fresh perspectives for policy makers and activists aiming to make gender equality happen. Cavaghan's new method also opens fresh avenues in feminist EU studies which are particularly relevant in the wake of the financial crisis as the EU seems to be stepping away from its commitments to gender equality.
