Elihu Root Collection of United States Documents Relating to the Philippine Islands, 1905 MacMillan's Magazine Sir George Grove, David Masson, John Morley, Mowbray Morris, 1868 Proceedings of the Alaskan Boundary Tribunal Alaskan Boundary Tribunal, 1904 Annual Reports of the War Department United States. War Department, 1905

Lectures on ancient history, from the earliest times to the taking of Alexandria by Octavianus, tr. from the Germ. ed. of M. Niebuhr, by L. Schmitz, with additions and corrections from his own MS. notes Barthold Georg Niebuhr, 1852 The Invention of Custom Francesca Iurlaro, 2021-12-23 The concept of customary international law although differently formulated is already present in early modern European debates on natural law and the law of nations However no scholarly monograph has until now addressed the relationship between custom and the European natural law and ius gentium tradition This book tells that neglected story and offers a solid conceptual framework to contextualize and understand the problematic of custom namely how to identify its normative content Natural law doctrines and the different ways in which they help construct human reason provided custom with such normative content This normative content consists of a set of fundamental moral values that help identify the status of custom as either a fundamental feature or an original source of ius gentium This book explores what cultural values and practices facilitated the emergence of custom and rendered it into as a source of the law of nations and how they did so Two crucial issues form the core of the book s analysis Firstly it qualifies the nature of the interrelation between natural law and ius gentium explaining why it matters in relation to our understanding of the idea of custom Second the book claims that the process of custom formation as a source of law calls into question the role of the authority of history The interpretation of the past through this approach can thus be described as one of invention
