At Home with the Holocaust Lucas F. W. Wilson, 2025-03-11 At Home with the Holocaust examines the relationship between intergenerational trauma and domestic space focusing on how Holocaust survivors' homes became extensions of their traumatized psyches that their children inhabited. Analyzing second and third generation Holocaust literature such as Art Spiegelman's Maus, Jonathan Safran Foer's Everything Is Illuminated, Sonia Pilcer's The Holocaust Kid, and Elizabeth Rosner's The Speed of Light, as well as oral histories of children of survivors, Lucas F. W. Wilson's study reveals how the material conditions of survivor family homes along with household practices and belongings rendered these homes as spaces of traumatic transference. As survivors' traumas became imbued in the very space of the domestic, their homes functioned as material archives of their Holocaust pasts, creating environments that not uncommonly second-handedly wounded their children. As survivor family homes were imaginatively transformed by survivors' children into the sites of their parents' traumas, like concentration camps and ghettos, their homes catalyzed the transmission of these traumas.

The Works of Jack London: Novels, Short Stories, Poems, Plays, Memoirs & Essays Jack London, 2023-12-22 The Works of Jack London: Novels, Short Stories, Poems, Plays, Memoirs, Essays is a comprehensive anthology that encapsulates the multifaceted literary contributions of one of America's most iconic writers. Featuring a rich tapestry of narratives that span adventure, social critique, and existential exploration, this collection showcases London's trademark blend of realism and romanticism. With a keen eye for the natural world and the struggles of the human spirit, London's prose is characterized by vivid imagery and robust dialogue reflecting the tumultuous backdrop of early 20th-century America, a time marked by social upheaval, industrialization, and a burgeoning interest in socialism. Jack London, born in 1876, emerged from a challenging upbringing to become a voice of the working class and the wilderness. His experiences as a gold prospector, sailor, and social activist profoundly shaped his worldview and literary output. London's commitment to exploring themes of survival and the primal instincts of humanity stems from his own life experiences that oscillated between profound hardship and artistic success, producing an oeuvre that resonates with readers of all stripes. This anthology is highly recommended for anyone interested in classic American literature, offering an unparalleled glimpse into the psyche of a writer who was not only a storyteller but also a keen observer of society. London's works remain vital for understanding the interplay between man, nature, and the societal structures that govern human life, making this collection an essential read for scholars, students, and lovers of literature alike.
