The Energy Year - Uganda 2022 The Energy Year, Now is the time Uganda is the right destination for investment H E Yoweri Kaguta Museveni President of the Republic of Uganda The Energy Year Uganda 2022 is a special edition celebrating Uganda's 60th anniversary of independence and covering the unlocking of the country's hydrocarbons and power sectors This edition has been produced in partnership with Uganda's State House the Ministry of Energy and Mineral Development and the Petroleum Authority of Uganda Following Uganda's FID announcement in February 2022 The Energy Year Uganda 2022 analyses the latest developments and future prospects of the country's nascent oil and gas sector as well as its linkages with the power sector and wider economy and portrays the projects championed by the key players of the Ugandan energy value chain Uganda is well on the road for its oil and gas resources to generate value for the country The key drivers for the country's value from these resources are through the participation of its people and its enterprises in the provision of goods and services enhancing the linkages between oil and gas and other sectors of the economy and the revenues to be generated when production of oil starts Ernest Rubondo Executive Director Petroleum Authority of Uganda The Energy Year Uganda 2022 also includes a map featuring Uganda's planned oil and gas infrastructure and licences as well as the East African Crude Oil Pipeline EACOP infrastructure This second edition of The Energy Year's Uganda series is the most updated in depth analysis and comprehensive guide on the evolving Ugandan energy market it underlines the key projects that will shape the Ugandan oil and gas value chain of the future and identifies the country's potential and untapped opportunities

Micronutrients, Immunity and Infection Philip Calder ,Sladjana Sobajic,2025-10-03 Many micronutrients vitamins and minerals have clearly identified roles in supporting the function of cells of the immune system People with micronutrient deficiencies often have immune impairments and are susceptible to infections and to infections being severe even fatal In such individuals micronutrient supplements can reverse immune impairments and reduce the risk of infections Nevertheless the relationships between micronutrient status immunity and infection are complex some micronutrients that are required by the immune system such as iron can also increase the risk of certain infections probably because those micronutrients favor pathogen growth and survival Furthermore the acute phase response to infections alters micronutrient metabolism This makes understanding of the relationship between micronutrient status and infection more complicated COVID 19 increased interest in micronutrients including vitamins C and D and zinc amongst others in the context of immunity and infection but the findings of different studies have been inconsistent highlighting the complexity of this field This Research Topic welcomes manuscript submissions on micronutrients immunity and infection These may be mechanistic studies conducted in controlled settings such as in cell culture or experimental animals human epidemiological studies and trials in human participants and patients evaluating relationships between micronutrient exposure immune outcomes and infection and the underlying mechanisms

Specialized Metabolites from Medicinal Plants: the Structural Identification, Biological

Activity and Biosynthesis Pathways Zhixing Qing, Chun-Tao Che, Hongjie Zhang, Chunpeng Wan, Zhou Yuan, 2024-06-11

Morphine extracted isolated from the opium poppy was the first plant derived natural product which was first reported in 1806 and marked as the beginning of plant metabolites research. In the following 200 years many specific metabolites with significant bio activity such as quinine, artemisinin and paclitaxel were discovered in plant derived medicines and have been used for treating human diseases. The extracts of plants or their metabolites have contributed significantly to human health particularly in the treatment of chronic diseases such as diabetes, hypertension and obesity. Nowadays medicinal plants and their metabolites are increasingly favored by researchers and pharmaceutical companies to be developed as new dietary supplements and pharmaceuticals. Therefore screening and identification of novel active metabolites or lead compounds from plant derived medicines for human disease treatment have become a popular research area.

Food Security, Poverty and Nutrition Policy Analysis Suresh Babu, Shailendra Gajanan, 2021-09-21. Food Security, Poverty and Nutrition Policy Analysis: Statistical Methods and Applications Third Edition combines statistical data analysis and computer literacy applying the results to develop policy alternatives through a series of statistical methods for real world food insecurity, malnutrition and poverty problems. The book presents the latest uses of statistical methods for policy analysis using the open source statistical environment R in addition to having the original Stata files and applications. A new chapter on obesity brings in new datasets for analysis to effectively demonstrate the use of such data for addressing policy issues. Finally program evaluation methods which can be directly applied to the data on food security, nutrition, poverty indicators and causal factors are included. This unique real world data takes the reader through a hands on approach toward econometric practice whereby they can also test the effects of policy and program interventions. Further this is the first book to explore actual data with STATA and R statistical packages that also provides a line by line guide to the programming and interpretation of results. Provides a fully revised and updated tome on the latest technology assessment advances and policy insights surrounding food security. Combines case studies with data based analysis. Includes self contained downloadable datasets, statistical appendices, computer programs and interpretations of the results for policy applications.
