Uneb Past Papers 2012/2013:

Public Examinations Examined Thomas Kellaghan, Vincent Greaney, 2019-11-19 High stakes public examinations exert a dominant influence in most education systems. They affect both teacher and student behavior especially at the middle and upper levels of secondary education. The content of past examinations tends to dictate what is taught and how it is taught and more important what is learned and how it is learned. By changing aspects of these examinations especially their content and format education systems can have a strong positive impact on teacher behavior and student learning help raise student achievement levels and better prepare students for tertiary level education and for employment. Examination agencies many of which have followed the same procedures over decades can learn from the successes and failures of other systems. This book addresses current issues related to the development administration scoring and usage of these high stakes public examinations identifying key issues and problems related to examinations in many emerging market economies as well as in advanced economies. The book's primary audience consists of public examination officials on national regional and state examination boards but the book should also be of interest to senior education policy makers concerned with certification and learning achievement standards to academics and researchers interested in educational assessment to governmental and education agencies responsible for student selection and to professionals at development organizations. This extremely well written and comprehensive book offers a timely review of the diversity of public examination practices worldwide of the tensions between examinations and learning and of the technical expertise involved in the creation of valid reliable and fair assessments. It reminds us that as the diploma disease takes hold with an ever greater intensity at every stage of education worldwide and the commercial business of testing flourishes those concerned with educational quality and meaningful learning must be on guard to prevent the assessment tail wagging the educational dog. Angela W Little Professor Emerita Institute of Education University College London. This book is very well structured and written and draws on the authors remarkable global knowledge across countries and histories. It will be a great asset both to administrators responsible for examinations and to academics and other professionals who seek to understand the nature and impact of examinations of different types and in different settings. Mark Bray UNESCO Chair Professor of Comparative Education University of Hong Kong and former Director UNESCO International Institute for Educational Planning. I am sure that Public Examinations Examined which thoroughly analyzes the practice of public examinations in different countries and makes profound and well grounded conclusions will arouse very great interest and will serve to further improve public examinations. Victor Bolotov Distinguished Professor Higher School of Economics National Research University Moscow member Russian Academy of Education and former Deputy Minister of Education Russian Federation. English as a Lingua Franca in Teacher Education Telma Gimenez, Michele Salles El Kadri, Luciana Cabrini Simões Calvo, 2017-11-07 A lingua franca perspective into English language teaching in Brazil has only recently taken flight. As an emerging economy the country faces enormous challenges when it comes to language education in schools where English has traditionally been taught as a foreign language This collection brings the perspectives of academics and language practitioners in their efforts to incorporate an ELF approach into teacher education thus offering a voice sorely missed in the international community interested in developing new approaches to English in a global world

Decolonising State and Society in Uganda Katherine Bruce-Lockhart, Jonathon L. Earle, Nakanyike Musisi, Edgar C. Taylor, 2022 Key book on the debates surrounding the knowledge economy and decolonialization of African Studies that brings the subject up to date for the 21st century Decolonization of knowledge has become a major issue in African Studies in recent years brought to the fore by social movements such as RhodesMustFall and BlackLivesMatter This timely book explores the politics and disputed character of knowledge production in colonial and postcolonial Uganda where efforts to generate forms of knowledge and solidarity that transcend colonial epistemologies draw on long histories of resistance and refusal Bringing together scholars from Africa Europe and North America the contributors in this volume analyse how knowledge has been created mobilized and contested across a wide range of Ugandan contexts In so doing they reveal how Ugandans have built disputed and reimagined institutions of authority and knowledge production in ways that disrupt the colonial frames that continue to shape scholarly analyses and state structures From the politics of language and gender in Bakiga naming practices to ways of knowing among the Acholi the hampering of critical scholarship by militarism and authoritarianism and debates over the names of streets lakes mountains and other public spaces this book shows how scholars and a wide range of Ugandan activists are reimagining the politics of knowledge in Ugandan public life

Achieving Education for All Ishmael I. Munene, 2016-06-16 Using the Education for All EFA global movement as the setting this book surveys the complex labyrinths of international education policy making the design and implementation of system wide educational reform and the assessment of learning outcomes in the African context It addresses the following questions what does it mean for African states to reform their educational systems to meet the global agenda of Education for All and the Millennium Development Goals Under what structural conditions have African governments implemented universal primary education programs and with what outcomes What are the lessons learned and how do these inform the post 2015 agenda for universal primary education in Africa and other developing countries This book provides answers to these questions and opens the possibilities for new approaches to Education for All in the context of constrained resources unstable political climates and the agency of local communities It is undeniable that African governments responded to the educational goals espoused in EFA and MDG paradigms through their own education for all plans and expended vast resources to realize these objectives However there remains a serious gap in knowledge about the design of these plans the influence of local and international forces in their development the challenges inherent in executing comprehensive and multifaceted reforms to achieve these goals and the success of the reform measures as evident in student learning outcomes This book addresses this knowledge gap in three ways First it utilizes empirical data collected over a five year period from six African countries Kenya Mali Senegal Nigeria Tanzania and Uganda to illuminate how the global agenda on education has been debated designed and implemented across the continent and with what outcomes Second it frames the six nation case studies within the wider logic of international educational policy agenda and the continent wide search for education quality Finally the analysis of universal primary education strategies is undertaken from an interdisciplinary perspective thereby allowing a more comprehensive view of the educational reform
