Touching The Void Documentary:

New Documentary Stella Bruzzi, 2006-09-27 Praise for New Documentary It's refreshing to find a book that cuts through the tired old debates that have surrounded documentary film and television. It heralds a welcome new approach. Sight and Sound Documentary practice changes so fast that books on the subject are often out of date before they are published. Bruzzi's achievement is to have understood the genre as an activity based on performance rather than observation. This is a fresh perspective which illuminates the fundamental shifts that will continue to take place in the genre as it enters its second century. John Ellis, Professor of Media Arts, Royal Holloway University of London. New Documentary provides a contemporary look at documentary and fresh and challenging ways of theorising the non-fiction film. As engaging as the original, this second edition features thorough updates to the existing chapters as well as a brand new chapter on contemporary cinema release documentaries. This new edition includes Contemporary films such as Capturing the Friedmans, tre et avoir, Fahrenheit 9/11, The Fog of War and Touching the Void as well as more canonical texts such as Hoop Dreams and Shoah. Additional interviews with influential practitioners such as director Michael Apted and producer Stephen Lambert. A comprehensively revised discussion of modern observational documentary including docusoaps, reality television and formatted documentaries. The work of documentary filmmakers such as Nicholas Barker, Errol Morris, Nick Broomfield, Molly Dineen and Michael Moore and the work of Avant Garde filmmakers such as Chris Marker and Patrick Keiller. Gender, identity, queer theory, performance, race and spectatorship. Bruzzi shows how theories of documentary filmmaking can be applied to contemporary texts and genres and discusses the relationship between recent innovative examples of the genre and the more established canon of documentary. The This Much is True - 15 Directors on Documentary Filmmaking James

Quinn, 2013-01-03 Interest in documentary filmmaking has never been greater. There are more documentaries now playing in mainstream cinemas than ever before. The Documentary Masterclass offers an engaging insight into the techniques of ten leading documentary directors. Documentary in the Digital Age Maxine Baker, 2013-07-18 If you want to learn from the leading lights of today's revolution in documentary filmmaking, Maxine Baker has written the guide you need to own. You'll discover the many different and innovative approaches to documentary form and style arising from the use of innovative new technology. A tribute to the mavericks of creativity inside you, you will find interviews and advice from groundbreaking documentary makers from the UK, USA and Europe as well as extensive listings of useful worldwide contacts and organisations. Any and every fan of the documentary will experience anew the passion and wonder of the Factual Film. Published review: This is a must-have insight into modern documentary, the principles that govern it and the conventions it often breaks. It deserves a place on the shelves of film commissioners, film students and documentary consumers as prominent as the place these documentary filmmakers have carved for themselves on our screens. www.shootingpeople.org
