A History of African Societies to 1870 Elizabeth Isichei,1997-04-13 This comprehensive and detailed exploration of the African past from prehistory to approximately 1870 is intended to provide a fully up to date complement to the Cambridge History of Africa Reflecting several emphases in recent scholarship it focusses on the changing modes of production on gender relations and on ecology laying particular stress on viewing history from below A distinctive theme is to be found in its analyses of cognitive history The work falls into three sections The first comprises a historiographic analysis and covers the period from the dawn of prehistory to the end of the Early Iron Age The second and third sections are for the most part organised on regional lines the second section ends in the sixteenth century the third carries the story on to 1870 A second volume now in preparation will cover the period from 1870 to 1995 This book attempts a more rounded view of African history than most of the other textbooks on the subject addressed to a largely undergraduate level student Earlier histories have tended to ignore some of the current foci in the scholarly literature on Africa generally not reflected in the textbooks these include discussions of topical issues like ecology and gender Isichei s book is also more radical

Blacksmiths of Ilamba Crislayne Alfagali, 2023-05-08 This study analyzes the establishment of an iron foundry in the interior 18th century of Angola It was a fruit of the Portuguese Enlightenment which encouraged investment in manufacturing particularly of iron a metal indispensable for military and technological purposes However the plans faced the resistance of African blacksmiths and founders who refused to learn foreign techniques and work processes By emphasizing Central African agency the book highlights the successful strategies of historical actors who scholars have largely ignored Based upon a wide variety of sources from Brazilian Portuguese and Angolan archives the book reconstructs how Africans were taken to work at the foundry and the important role they played in developing the form of production employed there By emphasizing continuities with African technology and the quality of the iron produced it counters interpretations of the project as an example of the failure of the Portuguese Enlightenment The analysis demonstrates the circulation of knowledge about iron production thus revitalizing debates that have posited knowledge transmission as unidirectional It also highlights the relationship between local political leaders and the colonial government in addition to elucidating the processes by which workers were organized

Migration and Mortality in Africa and the Atlantic World, 1700-1900 Philip D. Curtin, 2024-10-28 These papers explore the history of the tropical regions of the Atlantic basin sometimes focused on the Caribbean sometimes on Africa but always with a comparative dimension The Atlantic basin is central to most of these comparisons but they are a part of an even broader effort to capture the perspective of world history. Some deal with the shores of the Atlantic in the framework of economic history but the author's concern is most particularly with the role of the environment in history especially the disease environment. Disease was particularly important for migrants who moved from one disease environment to another. In the tropical Atlantic disease was a crucial factor in the formation of the slave trade affecting both the involuntary passengers and those who came out from Europe to manage the trade.

Historical Notices Edo Kabuki in Transition Satoko Shimazaki, 2016-04-26 Satoko Shimazaki revisits three centuries of kabuki theater reframing it as a key player in the formation of an early modern urban identity in Edo Japan and exploring the process that resulted in its re-creation in Tokyo as a national theatrical tradition. Challenging the prevailing understanding of early modern kabuki as a subversive entertainment and a threat to shogunal authority Shimazaki argues that kabuki instilled a sense of shared history in the inhabitants of Edo present-day Tokyo by invoking worlds or sekai derived from earlier military tales and overlaying them onto the present. She then analyzes the profound changes that took place in Edo kabuki toward the end of the early modern period which witnessed the rise of a new type of character the vengeful female ghost. Shimazaki's bold reinterpretation of the history of kabuki centers on the popular ghost play Tokaido Yotsuya kaidan The Eastern Seaboard Highway Ghost Stories at Yotsuya 1825 by Tsuruya Nanboku IV. Drawing not only on kabuki scripts but also on a wide range of other sources from theatrical ephemera and popular fiction to medical and religious texts she sheds light on the development of the ubiquitous trope of the vengeful female ghost and its illumination of new themes at a time when the samurai world was losing its relevance. She explores in detail the process by which nineteenth-century playwrights began dismantling the Edo tradition of presenting the past by abandoning their long-standing reliance on the sekai. She then reveals how in the 1920s a new generation of kabuki playwrights critics and scholars reinvented the form again textualizing kabuki so that it could be pressed into service as a guarantor of national identity.

He explains how the institution differed in nature and harshness both geographically and across time offering stories where slaves were relatively well treated and rose to prominent places in society as well as stories in which slaves were treated brutally and often rebelled. The cultural & heritage guide for Congo, 2025-09-25 Manifestations of Mana Paul van der Grijp, 2014 This book explores the role of mana in past and present configurations of chiefly power in the Pacific. Chiefs are often seen as transitional figures between traditional tribal or feudal and modern forms of leadership the latter characterized by rationality and the nation state with its accompanying bureaucracy Today the political arena in the Pacific although occupied by presidents members of parliament and court justices is still ruled by chiefs supporting their authority by tradition including the notion of mana Mana may be defined as divine inspiration or energy that manifests itself in persons objects places and natural phenomena Polynesian chiefs have mana because of their descent from ancient gods Other key concepts such as asymmetrical ideology mythical constructions of social reality and social drama are elaborated and applied to a wide specter of ethnographic examples The configuration and reconfiguration of Tongan chieftaincy and kingship in this book are analyzed as an extended case study of the gradual and sometimes shock like integration of a Polynesian culture into a global structure a nation state partly imposed from the outside missionarization colonization but also generated from within including state formation and the recent quest for democracy Together with other Polynesian examples this forms a relevant illustration of both continuity and change in the configuration of mana and chieftaincy in processes of globalization in the Pacific Baba Sy, the World Champion of 1963-1964 of 10x10 Draughts - Volume I Govert Westerveld, 2015-08-20
