Theology on the Menu David Grumett, Rachel Muers, 2010-02-26 Food what we eat how much we eat how it is produced and prepared and its cultural and ecological significance is an increasingly significant topic not only for scholars but for all of us Theology on the Menu is the first systematic and historical assessment of Christian attitudes to food and its role in shaping Christian identity David Grumett and Rachel Muers unfold a fascinating history of feasting and fasting food regulations and resistance to regulation the symbolism attached to particular foods the relationship between diet and doctrine and how food has shaped inter religious encounters Everyone interested in Christian approaches to food and diet or seeking to understand how theology can engage fruitfully with everyday life will find this book a stimulus and an inspiration Theology on the Menu David Grumett, Rachel Muers, 2010-02-26 Food what we eat how much we eat how it is produced and prepared and its cultural and ecological significance is an increasingly significant topic not only for scholars but for all of us Theology on the Menu is the first systematic and historical assessment of Christian attitudes to food and its role in shaping Christian identity David Grumett and Rachel Muers unfold a fascinating history of feasting and fasting food regulations and resistance to regulation the symbolism attached to particular foods the relationship between diet and doctrine and how food has shaped inter religious encounters Everyone interested in Christian approaches to food and diet or seeking to understand how theology can engage fruitfully with everyday life will find this book a stimulus and an inspiration The Oxford Handbook of Christian Monasticism Bernice M. Kaczynski, Thomas Sullivan, 2020 The Oxford Handbook of Christian Monasticism addresses for the first time in one volume multiple strands of Christian monastic practice Forty four essays consider historical and thematic aspects of the Catholic Eastern Orthodox Oriental Orthodox Protestant and Anglican traditions as well as contemporary new monasticism Learning from Other Religions David Brown, 2023-11-16 One common argument against taking the notion of divine revelation seriously is the extraordinary diversity which exists between the world's major religions How can God be thought to have spoken to humanity when the conclusions drawn are so very different David Brown authoritatively and persuasively tackles this issue head on He refutes the idea that all faiths necessarily culminate in Christianity or that they can be reduced to some facile lowest common denominator arguing instead that ideas may emerge more naturally in one context than another Sometimes because of its own singular situation another religion has proved to be more perceptive on a particular issue than Christianity At other times no religion will hold the ultimate answer because what can be asserted is heavily dependent on what is viable both scientifically and philosophically Although complete reconciliation is impossible a richer notion of revelation so the author suggests can be the result

Animal Ethics and Theology Daniel Miller, 2013-03-01 In this book Daniel K Miller articulates a new vision of human and animal relationships based on the foundational love ethic within Christianity Framed around Jesus parable of the Good Samaritan Animal Ethics and Theology thoughtfully examines the shortcomings of utilitarian and rights based approaches to animal ethics By considering the question of animals within the Christian concept of neighbourly love Miller provides an alternative narrative for understanding the complex relationships that humans have with other animals This book addresses significant theological questions such as Does being created in the image of God present a meaningful distinction between humans and other animals What does it mean for humans to have dominion Gen 1 28 over animals Is meat eating a moral problem for Christians In addition to drawing out the significance of Christian theology for field of animal ethics this book also engages environmental and feminist ethics Miller brings a theological perspective to such questions as Should care for animals be distinguished from care for the environment and what role should human emotions play in our ethical dealings with other animals As the title suggests this book provides fresh insight into the theological significance of human relationships with other animals

Emerging Geographies of Belief Catherine Brace, 2010-10-12 This interdisciplinary book presents new research from international scholars that explores questions of belief faith and religion Focusing on theoretically informed cultural geographical and historical analyses of faith belief religion society and space the book presents new and revised theoretical approaches and methodologies grounded in rigorous empirical research both contemporary and historical The volume takes a deliberately eclectic approach reflecting the complex interactions of the political and poetic dimensions of sacredness in contemporary societies Taking this research agenda forward this book explores how religious beliefs inform and construct social identities public knowledge and modes of governance In particular the book meets an urgent need for a critical understanding of how terms such as religion faith fundamentalism and secularism for example inform public debates and foster constructive engagements both between faith groups and between people of faith and people of no faith The essays in Emerging Geographies of Belief also show that religion cannot be mapped neatly onto faith or belief We attempt to tease out the different circumstances in which for example belief can operate without religious adherence or faith can inspire social action in geographies of hope The geography of the title relates to an overarching concern with space and spatiality rather than describing a single disciplinary approach Our concern with belief faith and religion operates at different temporal and spatial scales in different localities from the contemporary appeal to a more global sense of responsibility to a historically situated account of faith led educational practices This reflects more generally the so called spatial turn in the social sciences and humanities But despite this wide historical and geographical sweep the authors share some key concerns This collection is unique in combining theoretical conceptual and discursive approaches to the emerging geographies of belief with substantive examples of the intersection of belief faith and religion with aspects of everyday life Discussions of the potential subversive and prophetic capacities of faith belief and religion sit alongside consideration of how these have become implicated in the spaces and performances of hope It provides a critique of the situationist and substantive approaches to religion along with insights into the role of faith in education community and social work It considers the practices of remembrance representation and pilgrimage and the place of religion in contemporary identity politics In sum the book problematises the seemingly simple categories of faith religion and belief calling attention to how these are mobilised and implicated differently in different circumstances In addressing these themes the book provides a key theoretical resource but crucially goes on to show how multiple perspectives on belief however defined can be applied in practice Whilst there has been much contemporary work on the individual areas covered by the book they have not been brought together before to provide a dynamic insight into issues of the most pressing relevance

Joining Creation's Praise Brian Brock,2025-08-19 In the beginning God created Thus begins the Bible's story of a long conversation between God and creatures one in which humans are often the least edifying contributors They need to learn what it means to confess themselves creatures if they are to begin to understand what it means to be human and how to live Joining Creation's Praise a major statement by a leading Christian ethicist shows how confessing that we are creatures deeply reshapes every aspect of Christian thinking and living Human beings are made to embody Christ's image in the world not as dominators but as conduits of divine life In this comprehensive yet clear volume of theological ethics Brian Brock follows the first few chapters of Genesis in order to discover the things that the sages of Israel took to be crucial for the ethical life of human beings among other creatures in God's world Informed by theological rigor and careful exegesis the many ethical reflections in this volume allow an ancient wisdom to shed fresh light on very postmodern ethical questions about conversion life with God knowledge and wisdom dominion Sabbath vocation economics human dignity our relationship with the rest of creation sexuality marriage family sin death and politics

Sacred Rituals and Humane Death Magfirah Dahlan,2019-10-10 Sacred Rituals and Humane Death critically analyzes the civilizing nature of the underlying fundamental concept of humaneness in contemporary discourses around modern meat and animal ethics As religious methods of animal slaughter such as the halal method in Islam as well as the practice of religious animal sacrifice are sometimes categorized as barbaric in recent debates the civilizing narrative of progress leads supposedly to more humane adaptation of methods and practices of animal curation and slaughter This volume argues that the shift toward modern meat does not constitute a shift toward less pain and suffering as purported by supporters of contemporary methods particularly mass agriculture Rather it is a shift in what is considered as acceptable versus unacceptable pain and suffering In this work the author analyzes the concealment and distancing that characterize modern meat production uncovering the acceptable pain and suffering involved in these procedures heralded as progress and advocating for a retrieval of earlier tradition bound practices rooted in religious cultural and ethical respect of animals and their important and sacred roles in sacrifice

Food and Religious Identities in Spain, 1400-1600 Jillian Williams,2017-03-16 In the late fourteenth century the Iberian Peninsula was home to three major religions which coexisted in relative peace Over the next two centuries various political and social factors changed the face of Iberia dramatically This book examines this period of dynamic change in Iberian history through the lens of food and its relationship to religious identity It also provides a basis for further study of the connection between food and identities of all types This study explores the role of food as an expression of religious identity made evident in things like fasting feasting ingredient choices preparation methods and commensal relations It considers the role of food in the formation and redefinition of religious identities throughout this period and its significance in the maintenance of ideological and physical boundaries between faiths This is an insightful and unique look into inter religious dynamics It will therefore be of great interest to scholars of religious studies early modern European history and food studies

The Greek Historia Monachorum in Aegypto Andrew Cain,2016 The Greek Historia Monachorum in Aegypto was one of the most widely read and disseminated Greek hagiographic texts during Late Antiquity and the Middle Ages To this day it remains alongside Athanasius Life of Antony one of the core primary sources for fourth century Egyptian monasticism as well as one of the most fascinating yet perplexing pieces of monastic hagiography to survive from the entire patristic period However until now it has not received the intensive and sustained scholarly analysis that a monograph affords In this study Andrew Cain incorporates insights from source criticism stylistic and rhetorical analysis literary criticism and historical geographical and theological studies in an attempt to break new ground and revise current scholarly orthodoxy about a broad range of interpretive issues and problems

Animal History Andrew Linzey,Clair Linzey,2025-06-12 Traditional history overlooks non human animals But this book reinstates them as proper subjects of historical enquiry Fourteen essays from the Journal of Animal Ethics by accomplished academics offer pioneering insights into what animal history is and how it should be done The book is divided into sections covering the nature of animal history selected intellectual figures and historical controversies concerning meat eating and vivisection

Encountering Earth Trevor George Hunsberger Bechtel,Matt Eaton,Tim Harvie,2018-05-14 One day Matthew Eaton was walking through an impromptu animal shelter display at his local pet store when suddenly an eight month old kitten dug his claws into Eaton s flesh Eaton recognized that the eyes of this cat and the curve of his claw compelled a response analogous to those found in the writings of Buber Levinas and Derrida And not just Eaton but a whole community of theologians have found themselves in an encounter with particular places and animals that demands rich theological reflection Eaton enlisted fellow editors Harvie and Bechtel to collect the essays in this volume in which theologians listen to horses rats snakes cats dogs and the earth itself who become new theological voices demanding a response In this volume the voice of the more than human world is heard as making theology possible These essays suggest that what we say theologically represents not simply ideas of our own making subsequently superimposed onto the natural world through our own discovery but rather flow from an expressive Earth

Crusades Benjamin Z. Kedar,Jonathan Phillips,Jonathan Riley-Smith,2016-08-05 Crusades covers seven hundred years from the First Crusade 1095 1102 to the fall of Malta 1798 and draws together scholars working on theatres of war their home fronts and settlements from the Baltic to Africa and from Spain to the Near East and on theology law literature art numismatics and economic social political and military history Routledge publishes this journal for The Society for the Study of the Crusades and the Latin East Particular attention is given to the publication of historical sources in all relevant languages narrative homiletic and documentary in trustworthy editions but studies and interpretative essays are welcomed too Crusades appears in both print and online editions

The Fit Shall Inherit the Earth Erik W. Dailey, 2018-10-17 What does it mean as a person of faith to maintain and even strengthen one's physical body What does it mean to glorify God in your body 1 Corinthians 6:20 in a time when bodily perfection is popularly defined by advertising firms while food degradation has led to the worldwide obesity epidemic This work addresses those questions and many others through theological engagement with fitness and sport offering a critical examination of the two and their theological intersections Where is God in sport and fitness What value might sport and fitness have for the Christian Church Is there a good to be found

Bread of Life in Broken Britain Charles Pemberton, 2020-04-30 The return of Christian social service to the centre of British political life through the emergence of the foodbank movement has elicited a range of ecclesial responses However in their urgency and brevity these Church responses fail to systematically integrate political critique and social analysis nor do they undertake a sustained integration of the recent gains in political theology with the realities of our current mixed economy of welfare Charles Pemberton draws on interviews with foodbank users and volunteers to defend and advance a Christian vision of welfare beyond emergency food provision He suggests that behind the day to day struggles of those using foodbanks there are wider much concerns about loneliness marginalisation and the wholesale fragmentation of society

Aquinas's Eschatological Ethics and the Virtue of Temperance Matthew Levering, 2019-11-15 Matthew Levering offers a biblical and Thomistic portrait of the cardinal virtue of temperance and its allied virtues in dialogue with an ecumenical range of theologians and scholars In Aquinas's Eschatological Ethics and the Virtue of Temperance Levering argues that Catholic ethics make sense only in light of the biblical worldview that Jesus has inaugurated the kingdom of God by pouring out his spirit Jesus has made it possible for us to know and obey God's law for human flourishing as individuals and communities He has reoriented our lives toward the goal of beatific communion with him in charity which affects the exercise of the moral virtues that pertain to human flourishing Without the context of the inaugurated kingdom Catholic ethics as traditionally conceived will seem like an effort to find a middle ground between legalistic rigorism and relativistic laxism which is especially the case with the virtue of temperance the focus of Levering's book After an opening chapter on the eschatological biblical character of Catholic ethics the ensuing chapters engage Aquinas's theology of temperance in the Summa theologiae which identifies and examines a number of virtues associated with temperance Levering demonstrates that the theology of temperance is profoundly biblical and that Aquinas's theology of temperance relies for its intelligibility upon Christ's inauguration of the kingdom of God as the graced fulfillment of our created nature The book develops new vistas for scholars and students interested in moral theology

Routledge International Handbook of Food Studies Ken Albala, 2013-05-07 Over the past decade there has been a remarkable flowering of interest in food and nutrition both within the popular media and in academia Scholars are increasingly using foodways food systems and eating habits as a new unit of analysis within their own disciplines and students are rushing into classes and formal degree programs focused on food Introduced by the editor and including original articles by over thirty leading food scholars from around the world the Routledge International Handbook of Food Studies offers students scholars and all those interested in food related research a one stop easy to use reference guide Each article includes a brief history of food research within a discipline or on a particular topic a discussion of research methodologies and ideological or theoretical positions resources for research including archives grants and fellowship opportunities as well as suggestions for further study Each entry also explains the logistics of succeeding as a student and professional in food studies This clear direct Handbook will appeal to those hoping to start a career in academic food studies as well as those hoping to shift their research to a food related project Strongly interdisciplinary this work will be of interest to students and scholars throughout the social sciences and humanities T&T Clark Handbook of the Doctrine of Creation,2024-03-07 The T how the doctrine of creation informs and is informed by various dogmatic commitments and how the doctrine of creation relates to a range of human concerns and activities The Handbook represents a celebration of fascination with bewilderment at lament about and hope for all that is and serves as a scholarly innovative and constructive reference for those interested in attending to what Christian belief has to contribute to thinking about and living with the mysterious existence named creation On the Voices, Contexts and Tasks of Theology: Experiments in Quaker and Feminist Thought Rachel Muers,2025-10-16 Who is Christian theology for what is it for and what can it do Rachel Muers explores the voice of Christian theology the relationship between the subject of theology and theological discourse The book begins with the question how does someone speak of God understood not as a question about the criteria or authorised sources for theology but as a question of what is going on when theology is done How is it possible to speak as this particular historical embodied subject about God Muers investigates voice through engagement with historical and contemporary theologians particularly but not only with women who are speaking from relatively marginalised positions and contending with the lack of societal authorisation for their theological work Recognising that the question of voice is often equated in the contemporary context with the representation of identities and with how spaces and institutions can facilitate that representation the narrative considers more directly how questions of identity and context particularly in relation to gender shape the construction and representation of systematic theology and of theological tradition Muers examines the vocation of theology particularly in the contemporary Western academy and alongside other humanities subjects and a concluding chapter sets out a vision for ecumenical theological work The book draws extensively on the author s own Quaker tradition and on her experience of teaching and mentoring theologians Food, Farming and Religion Gretel Van Wieren,2018-04-24 Although the religious and ethical consideration of food and eating is not a new phenomenon the debate about food and eating today is distinctly different from most of what has preceded it in the history of Western culture Yet the field of environmental ethics especially religious approaches to environmental ethics has been slow to see food and agriculture as topics worthy of analysis This book examines how religious traditions and communities in the United States and beyond are responding to critical environmental ethical issues posed by the global food system In particular it looks at the responses that have developed within Jewish Christian and Islamic traditions and shows how they relate to arguments and approaches in the broader study of food and environmental ethics It considers topics such as land degradation and restoration genetically modified organisms and seed consolidation animal welfare water use access pollution and climate and weaves consideration of human wellbeing and justice throughout In doing so Gretel Van Wieren proposes a model for conceptualizing agricultural and food practices in sacred terms This book will appeal to a wide and interdisciplinary audience including those interested in environment and sustainability food studies ethics and religion
