Creative Compounding in English Réka Benczes, 2006-01-01 Metaphorical and metonymical compounds novel and lexicalised ones alike are remarkably abundant in language Yet how can we be sure that when using an expression such as land fishing in order to speak about metal detecting the referent will be immediately understood even if the hearer had not been previously familiar with the compound Accordingly this book sets out to explore whether the semantics of metaphorical and metonymical noun noun combinations can be systematically analysed within a theoretical framework where systematicity pertains to regularities in both the cognitive processes and the products of these processes that is the compounds themselves Backed up by recent psycholinguistic evidence the book convincingly demonstrates that such compounds are not semantically opaque as it has been formerly claimed they can in fact be analysed and accounted for within a cognitive linguistic framework by the combined application of metaphor metonymy blending profile determinacy and schema theory and represent the creative and associative word formation processes that we regularly apply in everyday language

Magical Transformations on the Early Modern English Stage Lisa Hopkins, Helen Ostovich, 2016-05-13

Magical Transformations on the Early Modern Stage furthers the debate about the cultural work performed by representations of magic on the early modern English stage It considers the ways in which performances of magic reflect and feed into a sense of national identity both in the form of magic contests and in its recurrent linkage to national defence the extent to which magic can trope other concerns and what these might be and how magic is staged and what the representational strategies and techniques might mean The essays range widely over both canonical plays Macbeth The Tempest The Winter's Tale The Merry Wives of Windsor Doctor Faustus Bartholomew Fair and notably less canonical ones such as The Birth of Merlin Fedele and Fortunio The Merry Devil of Edmonton The Devil is an Ass The Late Lancashire Witches and The Witch of Edmonton putting the two groups into dialogue with each other and also exploring ways in which they can be profitably related to contemporary cases or accusations of witchcraft. Attending to the representational strategies and self-conscious intertextuality of the plays as well as to their treatment of their subject matter, the essays reveal the plays they discuss as actively intervening in contemporary debates about witchcraft and magic in ways which themselves effect transformation rather than simply discussing it. At the heart of all the essays lies an interest in the transformative power of magic but collectively they show that the idea of transformation applies not only to the objects or even to the subjects of magic but that the plays themselves can be seen as working to bring about change in the ways that they challenge contemporary assumptions and stereotypes.

The Royal Society of Arts (RSA), later UCLES (University of Cambridge Local Examinations Syndicate), Communicative Use of English as a Foreign Language examinations (CUEFL) was one such influence, as were the Certificates in Communication Skills in English (CCSE), these exams being a development of the CUEFL. The University of Oxford Delegacy of Local Examinations (UODLE) examinations, taken over by UCLES in 1995, were a further influence on CELS. UODLE itself had worked in partnership with the Association of Recognised Language Schools (ARELS) Examinations Trust. The Oxford EFL reading and writing exams for many years offered in tandem with the ARELS Oral English exams.
