Ochieng'-Odhiambo, 2015-10-05 The collection of essays in this anthology is divided into three categories namely social epistemology epistemology and freedom respectively The first category addresses questions related to the social dimensions of knowledge Various issues are interrogated including the lack of attention to testimony in much standard philosophizing the need for advocacy and the role of history making in social reconstruction The second category deals more directly with some of the concepts that generally crop up in the theory of knowledge provoking questions such as How much do we really know about each other What is the content of the knowledge we think we have and how far does it depend upon our social being What is the relationship between knowledge and truth Essays in the third category deal with the concept of freedom both at a personal and a social level and discuss dilemmas such as To what extent are some of the arguments put forward in favour of genetic determinism flawed or sensible Does the idea of genetic influence pose a threat to freedom What is the area within which the subject is or should be left to do or be without interference from other persons In this era of globalization is cosmopolitanism or communitarianism by itself sufficient for promoting freedom Conversations in Philosophy Knowledge and Freedom is the second book in a series based on a selection of papers presented at the annual Cave Hill Philosophy Symposium The first book Conversations in Philosophy Crossing the Boundaries published in 2008 also by Cambridge Scholars Publishing consisted of essays that revolved around the question of the nature and meaning of philosophy This second volume of Conversations in Philosophy offers a careful and balanced examination of many issues that recur in discussions on knowledge and freedom The essays are thoughtful provocative and challenging Psychoanalytic Conversations Peter L. Rudnytsky, 2013-06-17 In this stunning addition to what has of late become a distinct genre of psychoanalytic literature Peter Rudnytsky presents 10 substantive and provocative interviews with leading analysts with theorists from allied fields and with influential Freud critics In conversations that Rudnytsky succeeds in making psychoanalytic both in form and in content he guides his interlocutors to unforeseen reflections on the events and forces that shaped their lives and on the personal and intellectual grounds of their beliefs and practices Rudnytsky a ranking academic scholar of psychoanalysis and the humanities approaches his subjects with not only a highly attuned third ear but also a remarkable grasp of theoretical historical and clinical issues When his interviewees turn from autobiographical narratives to matters of theory and clinical practice Rudnytsky is clear about his own intellectual allegiance to the Independent tradition of object relations theory and his admiration for John Bowlby and attachment theory His willingness to set forth his own point of view and occasionally to press a line of questioning infuses his exchanges with an energy even passion heretofore unknown in the analytic interview literature Rudnytsky consistently emerges as a partner even an analytic partner in dialogues that meld discovery with self discovery To be sure Psychoanalytic Conversations will find many clinical and scholarly readers among those who relish a good engrossing read But it will have special appeal to students of analysis who share Rudnytsky's belief that if psychoanalysis is to remain vital in the new century it can only be by expanding its horizons and learning from those who have taken it to task

MIND and LOVE: The Human Experience Lloyd Fell, 2011-01-04 The new scientific paradigm of embodied mind or situated cognition is percolating into popular mind science but its fundamentals autopoiesis and structural coupling have never been thoroughly explained Combines the paradigm shift in biology initiated by Maturana and Varela with the recent rush of ideas in social neuroscience to create what hopes to be a refreshingly new explanation of the way our mind works in our everyday experience and reveals the most common blind spots in what we thought we knew about our mind These blind spots are spoiling our individual lives and harming our prospects for peaceful coexistence and care of our environment e g the mistaken ideas that meaning is transferable that decisions come from conscious awareness or that knowledge is a commodity The biological significance of love and the value of embracing uncertainty and respecting the unknown point to a very hopeful vision for our future This is a scientific explanation of mind leavened with process philosophy also invoking spirituality without any religious connotation

The Archaeology of Ethnicity Siân Jones, 2002-11-01 The question of ethnicity is highly controversial in contemporary archaeology Indigenous and nationalist claims to territory often rely on reconstructions of the past based on the traditional identification of cultures from archaeological remains Siân Jones responds to the need for a reassessment of the ways in which social groups are identified in the archaeological record with a comprehensive and critical synthesis of recent theories of ethnicity in the human sciences In doing so she argues for a fundamentally different view of ethnicity as a complex dynamic form of identification requiring radical changes in archaeological analysis and interpretation struggle against racism and sexism in America led to this change in scientific thinking Finally Degler considers the revival of Darwinism without the Social Darwinism racism and sexism led first by ethologists such as Karl von Frisch Nikolaas Tinbergen Konrad Lorenz and Jane Goodall who revealed clear parallels between animal and human behavior and followed in varying degrees by such figures as Melvin Konner Alice Rossi Jerome Kagen and Edward O Wilson as well as others in anthropology political science sociology and economics What kind of animal is Homo sapiens and how did we come to be this way In this wide ranging history Carl Degler traces our attempts over the last century to answer these questions In doing so he has produced a volume that will fascinate anyone curious about the nature of human beings The Routledge International Handbook of Critical Autism Studies Damian Milton,Sara Ryan,2022-12-22 This handbook provides an authoritative and up to date overview of Critical Autism Studies and explores the different kinds of knowledges and their articulations similarities and differences across cultural contexts and key tensions within this subdiscipline Critical Autism Studies is a developing area occupying an exciting space of development within learning and teaching in higher education It has a strong trajectory within the autistic academic and advocate community in resistance and response to the persistence of autism retaining an identity as a genetic disorder of the brain Divided into four parts Conceptualising autism Autistic identity Community and culture Practice and comprising 24 newly commissioned chapters written by academics and activists it explores areas of education Critical Race Theory domestic violence and abuse sexuality biopolitics health and social care practices It will be of interest to all scholars and students of disability studies sociology anthropology cultural studies education health social care and political science Biopolitical Experience C.
