Resources in Education, 1999-10 Re-centering the Critical Potential of Nordic School Leadership Research Leif Moos, Elisabet Nihlfors, Jan Merok Paulsen, 2020-10-19. This volume contributes significantly to the ongoing international and Nordic paradigm shift in educational leadership research. It advocates for going from a contemporary mainstream functionalist paradigm to a reflexive paradigm based on educational values and knowledge. The volume is built on the shared basis that the purpose of education is and must be fundamental for school leadership practice. However, that is often forgotten in educational governance and policy. The basis of the argument is that educational leadership needs to change from focusing on effectiveness and narrowly defined accountability towards focusing on leadership that is contributing to the general education of students. That entails that leadership research needs to focus on complex perspectives like context, relations, trust, sense-making, and social and human values, and less on control, outcomes, accountability, and testing. The volume reminds readers about the need to raise awareness of the contexts of education and research, be they political, cultural, economic, or ideological. Chapters analyze, discuss, and compare research from Nordic educational leadership research systems: Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Norway, and Sweden. The cross-system insights clarify the fundamental relations between policy, governance, and research practice, and discuss forgotten dependencies and opportunities.

Race-Conscious Caring in Educational Leadership Michael G. Gunzenhauser, Osly J. Flores, Michael W. Quigley. This book describes a model for educational leadership ethics that provides a critical, reflective vision of what education can be for all children in K-12 schools. The authors of Race Conscious Caring in Educational Leadership conducted interviews with 22 school leaders who shared their visions toward serving students of color. The resulting model is built around the four features demonstrated by the strongest leaders: race consciousness, critical caring, justice leadership, and ethical praxis. Race-conscious caring leaders go beyond their good intentions to develop a deep understanding of the needs and interests of their students; they learn about racial identities and histories as strengths and sources of learning, and they provide opportunities for educational experiences that are routinely denied to marginalized and minoritized students. This book provides numerous examples of race conscious caring leaders with key analysis of where leaders fall short It is designed to help future and current leaders to critically reflect on their own experiences challenging them to build their capacity for transformative change Book Features Provides instructors with a unique text that integrates equity leadership and professional ethics Describes a comprehensive model that challenges leaders to improve across multiple dimensions especially if they are strong in some areas and not as strong in others Presents the ideal for each part of the model along with examples of partial fulfillment and what it looks like when a leader evidences very few of the ideals Incorporates examples and excerpts from school leaders who demonstrate varied levels of engagement with the model to help readers see themselves in the various categories Addresses the challenges today s leaders are facing due to policies and political climates working to pull back on equity work

Decentring Leadership Christine Grice, Amanda Lizier, Susanne Francisco, 2024-02-22 This book is about the practices of leading and their arrangements in a range of contemporary educational contexts It seeks to shift the traditional individual and role based educational leadership narrative to more transformational shared and ongoing practices between people thereby decentring leadership In this volume contributors consider leading from a practice perspective across a range of educational contexts Focusing on leading rather than leadership they examine how educational leaders lead through decentring from a range of positions and across a range of educational sectors from schools to higher education Chapters attend to the practices of leading to decentre normative traditional notions of leadership that focus on the individual leader as the unit of study They draw on the theory of practice architectures to understand leading as a shared and ongoing process rather than as an individual act This growing body of work that uses the theory of practice architectures TPA is disrupting people s thinking towards leading as a practice Focusing on practices and their arrangements shifts the traditional role based educational leadership narrative to the more transformational elements of practice architectures in thinking about leading in contemporary contexts Decentring Leadership will be a key resource for practitioners and researchers of education leadership and policy educational administration educational research educational studies and sociology It was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Educational Administration and History
