Erosion Gina Caison,2024-10-04 In Erosion Gina Caison traces how American authors and photographers have grappled with soil erosion as a material reality that shapes narratives of identity belonging and environment Examining canonical American texts and photography including John Steinbeck's The Grapes of Wrath Octavia Butler's Parable series John Audubon's Louisiana writings and Dorothea Lange's Migrant Mother Caison shows how concerns over erosion reveal anxieties of disappearance that are based in the legacies of settler colonialism Soil loss not only occupies a complex metaphorical place in the narrative of American identity it becomes central to preserving the white settler colonial state through Indigenous dispossession and erasure At the same time Caison examines how Indigenous texts and art such as Lynn Riggs's play Green Grow the Lilacs Karenne Wood's poetry and Monique Verdin's photography challenge colonial narratives of the continent by outlining the material stakes of soil loss for their own communities From California to Oklahoma to North Carolina's Outer Banks Caison ultimately demonstrates that concerns over erosion reverberate into issues of climate change land ownership Indigenous sovereignty race and cultural and national identity

Peer to Peer and the Music Industry Matthew David,2009-12-04 Have the music and movie industries lost the battle to criminalize downloading This penetrating and informative book provides readers with the perfect systematic critical guide to the file sharing phenomenon Combining inter disciplinary resources from sociology history media and communication studies and cultural studies David unpacks the economics psychology and philosophy of file sharing The book carefully situates the reader in a field of relevant approaches including network society theory post structuralism and ethnographic research It uses this to launch into a fascinating enquiry into the rise of file sharing the challenge to intellectual property law posed by new technologies of communication the social psychology of cyber crime the response of the mass media and multi national corporations Matthew David concludes with a balanced eye opening assessment of alternative cultural modes of participation and their relationship to cultural capitalism This is a landmark work in the sociology of popular culture and cultural criminology It fuses a deep knowledge of the music industry and the new technologies of mass communication with a powerful perspective on how multinational corporations seek to monopolize markets how international and state agencies defend property while a global multitude undermine and or reinvent both

Let's Talk About Sex Lisa Featherstone,2011-01-18 From the start of the new Australian nation in 1901 to the use of the female contraceptive pill in 1961 Let s Talk About Sex explores the ways sexuality has been constructed understood and experienced in Australia Far from being something hidden and private this work brings sexuality out into the open and explains why sex is of social cultural political and economic importance Let s Talk About Sex is an inclusive history surveying multiple and interwoven forms of sexuality desire pleasure regulation and resistance It begins with the long Victorian period the hidden desires of women and the hydraulic sexual needs of men both in the cities and on the frontier It moves across the decades considering heterosexuality homosexuality lesbians and nascent ideas about queer and sexual difference Lisa Featherstone highlights the tensions of the ages venereal disease homophobia birth control rape and child sexual assault She analyses the ways non normative sexuality was constructed as evil and perverse but also how men and women responded to this pathologising of their desires Let's Talk About Sex provides a fascinating account of sex gender age and race across the formative years of Australian society

The Closing Door Gary Orfield, Carole Ashkinaze, 1993-11 The Closing Door is the first major critique of the effect of conservative policies on urban race and poverty in the 1980s Atlanta with its booming economy strong elected black leadership and many highly educated blacks seemed to be the perfect site for those policies and market solutions to prove themselves Unfortunately not only did expected economic opportunity fail to materialize but many of the hard won gains of the civil rights movement were lost Orfield and Ashkinaze painstakingly analyze the evidence from Atlanta to show why black opportunity deteriorated over the 1980s and outline possible remedies for the damage inflicted by the Reagan and Bush administrations The Closing Door is a crucial breath of fresh air an important and timely text which will help to alter the underclass debate in favor of reconsidering race specific policies Orfield and Ashkinaze construct a convincing argument with which those who favor race neutrality will have to contend In readable prose they make a compelling case that economic growth is not enough Preston H Smith II Transition

Feelings and Work in Modern History Agnes Arnold-Forster, Alison Moulds, 2022-01-27 Work in all its guises is a fundamental part of the human experience and yet it is a setting where emotions rarely take centre stage This edited collection interrogates the troubled relationship between emotion and work to shed light on the feelings and meanings of both paid and unpaid labour from the late 19th to the 21st century Central to this book is a reappraisal of emotional labour now associated with the household and life admin work largely undertaken by women and which reflects and perpetuates gender inequalities Critiquing this term and the history of how work has made us feel Feelings and Work in Modern History explores the changing values we have ascribed to our labour examines the methods deployed by workplaces to manage or administrate our emotions and traces feelings through 19th 20th and 21st century Europe Asia and South America Exploring the damages wrought to physical and emotional health by certain workplaces and practices critiquing the pathologisation of some emotional responses to work and acknowledging the joy and meaning people derive from their labour this book appraises the notion of work life balance explores the changing notions of professionalism and critically engages with the history of capitalism and neo liberalism In doing so it interrogates the lasting impact of some of these histories on the current and future emotional landscape of labour
