A Case for Change in Teacher Preparation Julie Gorlewski, Amanda Winkelsas, Suzanne N. Rosenblith, Corrie Stone-Johnson, Elisabeth Etocio, David Gorlewski, Tiffany Karalis Noel, Bobbie Finocchio, Amanda Seccia, Ling Zhai, Erin Kearney, Xiufeng Liu, Nooshin Shafaei, Tanika Shedrick, 2021-08-19

Why are preservice teachers often told by veteran teachers to forget what you learned in teacher preparation programs? Why is there a gap between pedagogical practices employed at schools and those taught at colleges and universities? And why, after evidence from countless studies, are there still so few teachers of color working in our rapidly diversifying schools? These questions are addressed in this book which describes a reconceptualized teacher preparation program based on a teacher residency model. This model is grounded in three core beliefs: first, that teacher quality is a shared responsibility between universities and school districts; second, that all students have a right to high quality teachers who are as racially, ethnically, and linguistically diverse as the students they teach; and third, that for education to be transformative, future educators must have the right balance of theoretical knowledge and practical experiences grounded in specific contexts. Through a combination of rich description and qualitative and quantitative program data, the authors make the case that university programs focused on the communities they serve can ensure more effective learner-ready teachers who remain in the profession longer. By providing a detailed blueprint for program development, the contents of this book will be of value and interest to educational leaders, policy makers, and researchers.

Homeschooling Black Children in the U.S. Khadijah Ali-Coleman, Cheryl Fields-Smith, 2022-01-01

In 2021, the United States Census Bureau reported that in 2020, during the rise of the global health pandemic COVID-19, homeschooling among Black families increased five-fold. However, Black families had begun choosing to homeschool even before COVID-19 led to school closures and disrupted traditional school spaces. Homeschooling Black Children in the US: Theory, Practice, and Popular Culture offers an insightful look at the growing practice of homeschooling by Black families through this timely collection of articles by education practitioners, researchers, homeschooling parents, and homeschooled children. Homeschooling Black Children in the US: Theory, Practice, and Popular Culture honestly presents how systemic racism and other factors influence the decision of Black families to homeschool. In addition, the book's chapters illustrate in different ways how self-determination manifests within the homeschooling practice. Researchers Khadijah Ali-Coleman and Cheryl Fields-Smith have edited a compilation of work that explores the varied experiences of parents homeschooling Black children before, during, and after COVID-19. From veteran homeschooling parents sharing their practice to researchers reporting their data collected pre COVID this anthology of work presents an overview that gives substantive insight into what the practice of homeschooling looks like for many Black families in the United States Resources in education ,1991 Data-Driven School Improvement Ellen B.
