Technikon For 2016:

Higher Education ICT Integration in Africa Ke Yu, Reuben Dlamini, 2024-08-21 This multidisciplinary edited volume examines higher education's ICT integration in Africa contributing a new and inclusive change readiness framework to better understand how to manage ICT or other technological disruptions in resource-restrained contexts. Tackling ICT incorporation in HEIs from different levels, chapters document case studies from countries such as Uganda, South Africa, Rwanda, Eswatini, and Zimbabwe to demonstrate both the complexity of integration but also the successes it has enabled and under which conditions. The cases included in this book also exhibit better incorporation of both change content and process while some cases also make explicit reference to other technology adoption models. Ultimately, the book highlights conceptual and empirical research to inform practices and policy development in Africa, improving multi-level success or change readiness in ICT incorporation in HEIs in Africa. Addressing various gaps in existing literature and proposing innovative solutions like the multilevel change readiness model, this book will therefore be of interest to scholars, researchers, and academics in the fields of higher education, ICT integration, and educational technology more broadly. The Open Access version of this book is available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> and has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivatives CC BY-NC-ND 4.0 license.

Educating Citizen Designers in South Africa Elmarie Costandius, 2018-09-07 Educating Citizen Designers in South Africa is the first book of its kind to appear in post-apartheid South Africa and it is therefore both overdue and extremely welcome. The book aims at sharing critical citizenship design teaching and learning pedagogies by including contributions from a range of design educators and one student who work in different design disciplines such as architecture, graphic, and product design. Critical citizenship education is explicated in relation to a range of theories and new and existing models. Numerous contemporary case studies and examples of design projects from a range of South African Higher Education Institutions are included. As such, a variety of perspectives emerge, including the consensual where the aim of critical citizenship education is viewed as promoting social justice, shared values, and critical thinking; to the conflicting where critiques are levelled against conceptions of critical citizenship education. Contentious, contesting, and contradictory views are inevitable and necessary given the South African context as it is only in open debate that the one point of agreement among the authors, the need for social change, can be worked towards. Prof. Deirdre Pretorius, University of Johannesburg.

Transforming Higher Education in Asia and Africa

Fred M. Hayward,2020-03-01 Drawing on over fifty years of on the ground experience Fred M Hayward s Transforming Higher Education in Asia and Africa analyzes change processes in higher education in eight Asian and African countries The twelve cases range from the push to upgrade and transform higher education in Afghanistan in the midst of a war to the successful struggle against apartheid in South African institutions as well as thwarted efforts in Sierra Leone and Madagascar Providing both practical lessons learned and hope for communities globally Hayward demonstrates that higher education change and even transformation which is more fundamental and structural can occur even in the most difficult environments Successful transformation requires well crafted strategic and budget plans with careful implementation monitoring and effective leadership at multiple levels Yet also critical are a commitment to human development a desire for freedom and belief in democracy and recognition that high quality higher education is essential to national development

Beyond Indenture Crispin Bates, 2024-05-31 Beyond Indenture brings together original essays by a mix of experienced and upcoming scholars They reflect as far as possible the viewpoints and voices of indentured Indians who exercised agency resisted and manipulated the colonial labour system to their advantage and went on to build new lives for themselves overseas following the expiry of their contracts Some remigrated to other colonies to earn a better wage and escape from debt and other burdens Among those who chose to remain women played a prominent role in the struggle for rights freedom and opportunities achieving them in ways which often defied or redefined South Asian customs and traditions Alongside the migrant labourers passenger Indians made their way to the sugar tea and rubber colonies and became clerks teachers and shopkeepers After independence the Indian communities overseas faced newer problems not least of which were discrimination and marginalisation Some were forced to return home Others built upon the experience of struggles in the colonial era to collectively mobilise Another theme explored is that of the broad alliances of diasporic Indians and Pakistani and Bangladeshi migrants who have been recently enabled by the internet to connect with each other and to reconnect with the countries from which they originated

Women, Economic Development, and Higher Education Diane E. Eynon, 2017-06-19 This book is a multi disciplinary exploration of the intersection relationship and connection between higher education economic development and gender in post Apartheid South Africa In just twenty years South Africa has rewritten its constitution restructured its macroeconomic growth and development policies restructured its higher education system and made a commitment to provide opportunity for all its citizens specifically those who have historically been marginalized women and blacks Eynon weaves together these unique perspectives to illustrate how these multiple domains map onto women and the critical role they play in the present and future of the country Gender equality and women s empowerment and education were considered key drivers to South Africa s transformation

Academic Leadership in Engineering Education Rohit Kandakatla, Sushma Kulkarni, Michael E. Auer, 2024-11-13 Engineering institutions worldwide are undergoing significant transformation as they work to adapt themselves to the learning needs of students in the 21st century changing trends in the requirements of the industry and society and growing concerns about issues related to sustainable development and climate change Future engineering graduates must be equipped to tackle complex problems in society that are aligned with the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). There are increasing calls for engineering institutions to create quality learning experiences for students enabling them to develop deeper learning skills such as critical thinking, problem solving, life-long learning, leadership skills and the ability to work in teams. Engineering curricula must be made multidisciplinary, innovative and outcome-driven by integrating evidence-based pedagogies and learning mechanisms. For this to happen, academic leaders must reimagine their institutions with significant changes at the administration, governance and leadership levels. Establishing new-age institutions that meet international accreditation standards requires dynamic academic leaders at multiple levels who can work collaboratively to achieve the vision and mission of the institution. This book is an attempt to share key learnings from academic leaders from around the world on important trends emerging in engineering education. Aspiring academic leaders will get a glimpse of the thought process and vision of such leaders, how they strategize and support their institutions for the betterment of the students and what kind of changes they are working on to keep up with the ever-evolving environment. The book is divided into four sections. Each section comprises multiple chapters written by different academic leaders that are based on their experiences of implementing best practices at their respective institutions. Section 1: Governance and Leadership of Engineering Institutions; Section 2: Creating Quality Learning Experiences; Section 3: Preparing Institutions to become Knowledge Hubs for Research, Innovation and Entrepreneurship; Section 4: Empowerment of Faculty and Students for the 21st Century. The sections and chapters will be of great value to multiple stakeholders in leadership positions at engineering institutions including Presidents, Vice Chancellors, Provosts, Directors, Deans, Heads of Departments and Faculty members aspiring to be academic leaders. Each chapter will be presented through case studies from successful programs initiated and pioneered at various engineering institutions across the globe. Research Anthology on Preparing School Administrators to Lead Quality Education Programs Management Association, Information Resources, 2020-07-24. The delivery of quality education to students relies heavily on the actions of an institution's administrative staff. Effective leadership strategies allow for the continued progress of modern educational initiatives. It is crucial to investigate how effective administrators lead their organizations in challenging and difficult times and promote the accomplishments of their organization. Research Anthology on Preparing School Administrators to Lead Quality Education Programs is a vital reference source that offers theoretical and pedagogical research concerning the management of educational systems on both the national and international scale. It also explores academic administration as well as administrative effectiveness in achieving organizational goals. Highlighting a range of topics such as strategic planning, human resources and school culture, this multi-volume book is ideally designed for educators, administrators, principals, superintendents, board members, researchers, academicians, policymakers and students.

Education as the Driving Force of Equity for the Marginalized Boivin, Jacquelynne Anne, Pacheco-Guffrey, Heather, 2022-01-14. In the USA, racism is the most widespread root of oppression. Black people in America specifically have suffered from centuries of discrimination and still struggle to receive the same privileges as their white peers In other countries however there are other groups that face similar struggles Discrimination and oppression based on religion ethnicity socio economic status political affiliation and caste are just a few categories However education is a root for widespread societal change making it essential that educators and systems of education enact the changes that need to occur to achieve equity for the groups being oppressed Education as the Driving Force of Equity for the Marginalized highlights international research from the past decade about the role education is playing in the disruption and dismantling of perpetuated systems of oppression This research presents the context ideas and mechanics behind impactful efforts to dismantle systems of oppression Covering topics such as teacher preparation gender inequality and social justice this work is essential for teachers policymakers college students education faculty researchers administrators professors and academicians
