Sensationalistic stories have attracted readers for as long as reading has been a popular form of entertainment Readers have been frightened revolted yet fascinated by stories of death thievery kidnapping murder rape scandal love triangles and colorful miscreants Starting in the 1830s this morbid interest in lurid stories fueled the unprecedented growth of sensationalist newspapers that titillated and shocked their many readers This study of sensationalism describes how newspapers added lurid details to their coverage of news events in an effort to attract as many readers as they could Employing hyperbole and exaggerated details they meant to grab the attention of the reader and keep him or her reading For the next hundred years this form of journalism continued later spilling over into radio and television news Along the way the yellow journalism wars of the 1880s and 1890s produced bold headlines eye catching illustrations exaggeration of news events and even false quotes and misleading information Sensational reporting continued with muckraking reporting in the early 1900s as journalistic crusaders worked to expose municipal corruption corporate greed and misconduct in American business
