Open-file Report ,1978 Safe Drinking Water Rip G. Rice,2017-11-22 A review of the nation s new coverages serves as a ready reminder that drinking water safety is more than regional or local concern In recent times the print media alone has drawn attention to barium bacteria heavy metals and increasingly organic contaminants in public water supplies located in Florida Rhode Island Texas Oregon Illinois Minnesota North Carolina Michigan and California to name a few In an effort to address one of the major issues confronting the future of the nation s drinking water supplies chemical contamination the Drinking Water Research Foundation and the American Chemical Society presented the symposium Safe Drinking Water the Impact of Chemicals on a Limited Resource To add balance to the total presentation two papers were included that were not part of the symposium Many questions as to the public significance of hundreds of organic chemicals known to be present in the national drinking water supply are waiting to be answered In some areas of the country aid rain induced alterations of the natural leaching process represent an unexplored potential source of toxic pollutants Finding workable ways to clean up the water supply will be an ongoing task Addressing these questions as well as investigating how other countries are responding to these problems the alternate sources available such as bottled water and point of use devices the presenters in this symposium have attempted to explain the problems situation and alternatives As progress is made in one area setbacks will occur in another As we eliminate problems thought chemical technology we often create others such as contamination of our waters While all the situations problems and alternatives are not discussed in these proceedings it is hoped that some attention will be brought to the public government and private sectors so that future work will be done to assure the nation of safe drinking water resources Rural Water Systems Planning and Engineering Guide Michael D. Water on Tap, 1997 Performance Indicators for Water Supply Services Helena Alegre, Jaime M. Baptista, Enrique Cabrera Jr, Francisco Cubillo, Patricia Duarte, Wolfram Hirner, Wolf Merkel, Renato Parena, 2006-06-30 The IWA Performance Indicator System for water services is now recognized as a worldwide reference Since it first appearance in 2000 the system has been widely quoted adapted and used in a large number of projects both for internal performance assessment and metric benchmarking Water professionals have benefited from a coherent and flexible system with precise and detailed definitions that in many cases have become a standard The system has proven to be adaptable and it has been used in very different contexts for diverse purposes The Performance Indicators System can be used in any organization regardless of its size nature public private etc or degree of complexity and development The second edition of Performance Indicators for Water Supply Services represents a further improvement of the original manual It contains a reviewed and consolidated version of the indicators resulting from the real needs of water companies worldwide that were expressed during the extensive field testing of the original system The indicators now properly cover bulk distribution and the needs of developing countries and all definitions have been thoroughly revised The confidence grading scheme has been simplified and the procedure to assess the results uncertainty has been significantly enhanced In addition to the updated contents of the original edition a large part of the manual is now devoted to the practical application of the system Complete with simplified step by step implementation procedures and case studies the manual provides guidelines on how to adapt the IWA concepts and indicators to specific contexts and objectives The manual includes a new version of the software Sigma Lite incorporating all the new developments and an improved graphical user interface This new edition of Performance Indicators for Water Supply Services will be an invaluable reference source for all those concerned with managing the performance of the water supply industry including those in the water utilities as well as regulators policy makers and financial agencies
