Gay L.A. Lillian Faderman, Stuart Timmons, 2009-08-03 Charts LA's gay history from the first missionary encounters with Native American cross gendered two spirits to cross dressing frontier women in search of their fortunes and from the 1960s gay liberation movement to the creation of gay marketing in the 1990s The Sitcoms of Norman Lear Sean Campbell, 2014-12-24 Archie Bunker George Jefferson Maude the television sitcom world of the 1970s was peopled by the creations of Norman Lear Beginning in 1971 with the premier of All in the Family Lear's work gave sitcoms a new face and a new style No longer were families perfect and lives in order Mostly blue collar workers and their families Lear's characters argued struggled uttered sometimes shocking opinions and had no problem contributing to or at least acknowledging the turmoil so shunned by 1960s television. Significantly not only did Lear address difficult issues but he did so through successful programming. Week after week Americans tuned in to see the family adventures of the Bunkers, the Jeffersons, and Sanford and Son. With a thorough analysis of his sitcoms, this volume explores Norman Lear's memorable production career during the 1970s. It emphasizes how Lear's shows reflected the political and cultural milieu and how they addressed societal issues including racism, child abuse, and gun control. The casting, production, and behind-the-screen difficulties of All in the Family, Sanford Son, Maude, Good Times, The Jeffersons, and One Day at a Time are discussed. Each show is examined from inception through series finale. Interviews with some of the actors and actresses such as Rue McClanahan of Maude and Marla Gibbs from The Jeffersons are included. The Television Will Be Revolutionized, Second Edition Amanda D. Lotz, 2014-09-19. Incredibly prescient, the revised edition updates its account to reflect an age when Hulu, Netflix, and Amazon are now competing for Emmy and Peabody Awards. Henry Jenkins, coauthor of Spreadable Media: Creating Meaning and Value in a Networked Culture. Many proclaimed the end of television in the early years of the twenty-first century as capabilities and features of the boxes that occupied a central space in American living rooms for the preceding fifty years were radically remade. In this revised second edition of her definitive book, Amanda D. Lotz proves that rumors of the death of television were greatly exaggerated and explores how new distribution and viewing technologies have resurrected the medium. Shifts in the basic practices of making and distributing television have not been hastening its demise but redefining what we can do with it, what we expect from it, how we use it, in short, revolutionizing it. Television as both a technology and a tool for cultural storytelling remains as important today as ever but it has changed in fundamental ways. The Television Will Be Revolutionized provides a sophisticated history of the present, examining television in what Lotz terms the post-network era while providing frameworks for understanding the continued change in the medium. The second edition addresses adjustments throughout the industry wrought by broadband-delivered television such as Netflix, YouTube, and cross-platform initiatives like TV Everywhere, as well as how technologies such as tablets and smartphones have changed how and where we view. Lotz begins to deconstruct the future of different kinds of television, exploring how prized content, live televised sports, and linear viewing may all be television but very different types of television for both viewers and producers. Through interviews with those working in the industry, surveys of trade publications, and consideration of an extensive array of popular shows, Lotz takes us behind the screen to explore what is changing, why it is changing, and why the changes matter. A thorough and engaging analysis. Velvet Light Trap. Thick with trade facts and figures. Due to its ability to freeze a moment in time, the photo is a uniquely powerful device for ordering and understanding the world. But when an image depicts complex, ambiguous, or controversial events, terrorist attacks, wars, political assassinations, its ability to influence perception can prove deeply unsettling. Are we really seeing the world as it is or is the image a fabrication or projection How do a photo s content and form shape a viewer s impressions What do such images contribute to historical memory About to Die focuses on one emotionally charged category of news photograph depictions of individuals who are facing imminent death as a prism for addressing such vital questions Tracking events as wide ranging as the 1906 San Francisco Earthquake the Holocaust the Vietnam War and 9 11 Barbie Zelizer demonstrates that modes of journalistic depiction and the power of the image are immense cultural forces that are still far from understood Through a survey of a century of photojournalism including close analysis of over sixty photos About to Die provides a framework and vocabulary for understanding the news imagery that so profoundly shapes our view of the world
