Health Communication and Sexual Health in India Ravindra Kumar Vemula, 2018-11-09 Over the past few years ever since the advent of HIV and AIDS there has been increasing discussion of the concept of sexual health This upsurge is especially noticeable not only in the field of health education and promotion but also in academic sources The recent discourse on sexual health is paralleled by an upsurge in the debate on sexual rights This book examines the social construction of sexual health in India through an analysis of HIV and AIDS messages The broad objective of the chapters is to trace the growth and evolution of the concept of sexual health from a health communication perspective and to understand the role of the state in determining its form and structure The methodology used includes comparative analysis of HIV and AIDS policies document analysis on HIV and AIDS poster and short films analysis in depth and open ended Interviews and case studies The book shows that Sexual Health is constructed in various modes in India The models that are elaborated are the Medical model that constructs HIV scientifically and in terms of a compromised immune system the Epidemic model that identifies risk behaviours and transmission routes and the Moralistic model Social constructions of AIDS as plague or punishment against society are advanced by moralists who equate HIV with taboo social and sexual behaviour and the political constructions highlights public health in the face of obstacles to treatment and the delivery of services to people living with HIV Bringing together current research and discussions on the three areas of policy practices and theoretical perspectives related to the use and social construction of sexual health through HIV and AIDS communication approaches with specific reference to India this book will be of interest to academics in the field of health communication HIV and AIDS and South Asian Studies

Combating Micronutrient Deficiencies Brian Thompson, Leslie Amoroso, 2011 This book inclusive of 19 chapters provides discussions on the benefits and limitations of food based approaches for the prevention and control of micronutrient malnutrition Different chapters focus on specific relevant topics including current developments in food based approaches and their program applications relevance of agricultural interventions to nutrition impact of multi sectoral programmes with food based approaches components in alleviating undernutrition and micronutrient malnutrition animal source foods as a food based approach to address nutrient deficiencies aquaculture s role in improving food and nutrition security benefits of vegetables and fruits in preventing and combating micronutrient malnutrition benefits of food based approaches for overcoming single specific micronutrient deficiencies and food fortification This book will be of great use to professionals interested in public health human nutrition micronutrient deficiency interventions food and nutrition security policy interventions and agricultural research Reproductive Health and Gender Equality Guang-zhen Wang,2016-04-08

Since the late 1990s approaches to women s reproductive health has shifted from a service based model to a human rights approach This approach associates reproductive health with freedom from discrimination and enjoyment of a satisfying and safe sex life and full access to information and services related to reproduction In spite of this shift and the global effort to promote women s reproductive health through the enhancement of human rights and gender equality progress has been very slow In this book the author fills a much needed empirical study of women s reproductive health The author assesses data from 137 developing countries or areas and challenges the prevailing bioscience and public health models by linking women s reproductive health to gender equality measures and development policies Discussion on abortion rights regional variations and reproductive health needs among refugees and internally displaced persons are also discussed This is a timely study which provides a theoretical and social policy basis for monitoring and improving women s reproductive health in developing countries This is particularly important in the light of insufficient research in the field and a lack of analysis on the empirical and theoretical linkages between reproductive health and gender equality The book will be of interest to researchers professionals and students interested in women s health issues gender women s studies and human rights Global Health for All Jean-Paul Gaudillière,Andrew McDowell,Claudia Lang,Claire Beaudevin,2022-04-15
