the bestselling tradition of Robert Kaplan's The Revenge of Geography For centuries oceans were the chessboard on which empires battled for supremacy But in the nuclear age air power and missile systems dominated our worries about security and for the United States the economy was largely driven by domestic production with trucking and railways that crisscrossed the continent serving as the primary modes of commercial transit All that has changed as nine tenths of global commerce and the bulk of energy trade is today linked to sea based flows A brightly painted forty foot steel shipping container loaded in Asia with twenty tons of goods may arrive literally anywhere else in the world how that really happens and who actually profits from it show that the struggle for power on the seas is a critical issue today Now in vivid closely observed prose Bruce D Jones conducts us on a fascinating voyage through the great modern ports and naval bases from the vast container ports of Hong Kong and Shanghai to the vital naval base of the American Seventh Fleet in Hawaii to the sophisticated security arrangements in the Port of New York Along the way the book illustrates how global commerce works that we are amidst a global naval arms race and why the oceans are so crucial to America's standing going forward As Jones reveals the three great geopolitical struggles of our time for military power for economic dominance and over our changing climate are playing out atop within and below the world's oceans The essential question he shows is this who will rule the waves and set the terms of the world to come
